Another Year of Transition?

1992 was just one of those years in the coin market; hard to summarize what happened, and hard to distill any great lesson from it. As we noted in a recent editorial in the Bluesheet, 1992 presented coin dealers with ample opportunities to make both sound and unsound inventory investments. The profitability of the year depended upon "whether you found yourself on the 'right' side of the many market movements that occurred during the year." The main lesson of 1992 seems to be that it is not always useful to speak of the "coin market" as a whole. Different grades in different series went in different directions at different times of the year. In order to discuss events in the coin market, you really need to scrutinize the individual series over shorter time frames.

The CCDn Coin Market Index (CMI), a weekly feature in the Bluesheet, started the year at 722.83, rose slowly until midway through the second quarter to a peak of 765.70, and then slowly declined to 717.38 only to return to the 723.28 level. That's as close to ending the year 'where you started' as a dynamic market can get. So was this a boring year, marked by a sustained (albeit minor) climb followed by a sustained (albeit minor) decline? If 1992 gave you a sense of deja vu, you might want to look at the light dotted line on the chart below, which traces the CMI for 1991 as well; been there and done that? Still, if you think that 1992 was boring 'on average', you really have missed a great deal of excitement.

Let's look at some of the individual charts:

Silver Commemoratives remain a very popular area, but they have not displayed any consistent pattern of movement this year. Their CMI stood at 651.12 at the beginning of the year, and ended at 635.70; but along the way, they reached as high as 714.00! Gains on individual coins or series could be quite impressive. Bid on the 1952 Carver-Washington PDS trio in MS60 climbed from $45 to $65 over the course of the year, a respectable 44% gain; in MS63, the set rose from $54 to $70 (a 30% increase). The 1935-S San Diego in MS65 moved from $85 to $115 for a 35% gain, and the 1936-D (also in MS65) rose from $100 to $130. None of these coins are especially rare, and at these price levels, anyone could have participated in their climb. To be sure, there were some dramatic losers as well. The 1892 Columbian Expo in MS64 plummeted from $800 to $250, a staggering decline; in MS63, Bid fell from $380 to $120, and in MS65, from $1,950 to $1,030. The 1893 Columbian in MS64 fell from $700 to $315, and in MS65 from $1,850 to $1,275. The Isabella Quarter in MS64 dropped from $1,875 to $950, and in MS65 from $4,250 to $2,300. Not a pleasant Quincentenary for investors buying at the wrong time.

Gold Commemoratives had an interesting year. The CMI opened 1992 at their yearly low of 598.32 and climbed to a Second Quarter annual high of 682.18; during the third Quarter they dropped, but recovered by year-end to 680.11. There were some substantial gains during 1992, mostly to be found in the MS63 and MS64 columns. The 1926 Sesquicentennial $2.5 in MS64 rose from $810 to $1680 (a very pleasant 107% increase), and in MS63 from $535 to $865 (a 62% jump); in MS65, the increase from $5,750 to $6,500 was a decent 13%. The 1915-S Panama Pacific Expo $1 in MS64 rose from $780 to $1,240 (a 59% increase), and in MS63 from $570 to $825 (a 45% gain); in MS65, the increase from $2,000 to $2,700 was good for a 35% accounting. (The $1 in XF was also the biggest percentage loser during 1992, dropping from $300 to $250.) The Pan Pac $2.5 in MS65 jumped $3,300 to $4,600 (a 39% gain); in MS64 it climbed from $1,950 to $2,620 (a 34% gain); and in MS63 from $1,750 to $2,200 (a 26% gain). Just to show that Pan-Pacs weren't invincible, the $50 Octagonal in MS65 dropped from $90,000 to $75,000, and the $50 Round from $100,000 to $90,000.

Just as in the other series, it was possible to either make or lose large sums in the Morgan Dollar series. The Morgan CMI opened at 760.22, (after a sustained, late 1991 rally) and continued to climb to a Second Quarter level of 849.19; without many spectacular losses, Morgans managed to return to the 776.43 level by year's end. What were some of the winners? The 1900 in MS67 soared from $2,350 to $10,750 for a 357% gain to lead the leaders. The second best performance during 1992 was turned in by the 1892-S in AU, which jumped from $600 to $1,600 for a 167% increase. The 1895-O in MS65 generated some big numbers, increasing from $60,000 to $145,000 for a 142% gain. Most of the big gains were reported by Morgans in the $2,000 to $7,000 range. Among the lower-valued Morgans showing nice percentage gains, the 1899 in MS65 jumped from $805 to $1,300 for a 61% gain. Among the large-percentage declines could be found Morgans of all prices; the 1882 O/S in AU slid from $85 to $30, while the 1895 Proof-67 fell from $85,000 to $45,000. As a class, DMPLs appear all too frequently among the percentage losers, thanks to some heady declines in generic pricing.

Peace Dollars turned in a similarly mixed performance; the CMI opened at 632.18, and ended 1992 at 624.29 for a modest decline — but along the way they dropped as low as 619.11, and climbed as high as 732.24! The 1921, a perennial favorite, increased in MS67 from $15,700 to $30,000 (a 91% gain). Most of the big gains, however, were scored by Dollars in the MS64 and MS65 columns. The 1926-S in MS65 jumped from $1,350 to $2,200 (a 63% gain); the 1934 in MS64 climbed from $185 to $300 (a 62% gain); and the 1934-D in MS65 showed a gain from $1,650 to $2,490 (a 51% increase). Here too, laggards could be found, and across most of the columns. The 1922 D in MS67 dropped from $15,700 to $8,000 by year's end, the 1927 D in MS64 sunk from $800 to $450; and the 1923 D in MS63 fell from $71 to $42.

The CMI for Mint State Type started 1992 at 787.50 and climbed as high as 832.72 before ending at 777.41. Both profits and losses were available on this chart. Among the biggest gainers was the

The CDN MONTHLY SUPPLEMENT is a supplement to the weekly COIN DEALER Newsletter (Greysheet); both report the national Dealer-to-Dealer, wholesale coin market, monitoring all possible transactions and offers to buy and sell coins sight-seen. The coins may be certified or "Raw" (uncertified), but the grading MUST ADHERE to the current leading standard. Bids reported also consider activity in the certified SIGHT-UNSEEN market, such bids may include consideration of all costs attendant to certification for a particular service. Bids for a "Raw" coin may be higher or lower than for a certified specimen due to current market conditions. The CDN may not change Bid just because a dealer lowers his Bid, but will be strongly influenced by sells which are lower than current Bid/Ask levels. The CERTIFIED COIN DEALER Newsletter provides Bids for certified coins only.

Liberty Cap Large Cent in MS65 R&B, which climbed from $23,000 to $35,000 for a 52% gain. The Liberty Seated Half Dime, No Drapery in MS63, rose from $520 to $785 for a 51% gain. The Braided Half Cent, in MS65 Red climbed from $2,760 to $4,000 (a 45% gain). The Liberty Seated Dime, No Drapery in MS64, dropped from $2,150 to $1,180, while the T.2 3-Cent Silver in MS64 fell from $2,200 to $1,460. A mixed performance on a chart indicative of a mixed year. There were also plenty of 'percentage' movements on the Circ Type chart, with the Two Cent Piece in F moving from $6.00 to $14.00, and the Draped Bust Dime (1798-1807) in AU dropping from $2,875 to $2,000.

The Mint State Gold Type CMI last January, stood at 573.79, and rallied in the First Quarter to reach 630.85, only to sink in the Second Quarter to 567.34, only to RALLY in the Fourth Quarter to a high of 653.60. The explosive rise in Mint State Gold Bid levels during 1992 (an average of 15% during the last two Quarters alone) proved once again that enormous profits in rare coin investing are possible. Even some year-end "profit-taking" couldn't diminish their performance, especially in MS63 and MS64. The $2.5 Indian Type was the performer of the year: in MS64, it rose from $1,010 to $2,280 (a 126% increase!); in MS63, it climbed from $475 to $1,020 (a 115% increase); and in MS65, the increase from $3,340 to $5,200 showed a 56% return. The $10 Indian Type in MS64 turned in a 112% increase, climbing from $1,320 to $2,800; the $2.5 Lib in MS64 showed a 108% rise, climbing from $745 to $1,550. There were some issues that lost ground in 1992, such as the $1 T.2 in AU, sliding from $600 to $475, and the $1 T.3 in MS67 dropping from $5,800 to $4,800. Considering the advances that MS63 & MS64 Gold Type showed, it may come as a surprise that 3 of the 'top' ten laggards were MS67; 1992 was not always kind to the super premiums.

Proof Type, much like Mint State Type, turned in a very mixed performance during 1992. The CMI started 1992 at the 769.34 level, and ended at 753.06, but reached as high as 810.24 during the year. Among the biggest gainers, the Capped Bust Half Dime in Pr60 soared from $900 to $2,350 (a 161% climb!), and the Liberty Seated Half Dime with Arrows (1853-55) in Pr60 rose from $1,150 to $2,200 for a 91% gain. Among those not faring as well could be found the Liberty Seated Dime with Arrows (1873-74) in Pr65, which fell from $7,500 to $4,900, and the Liberty Seated Half-Dime with Legend in Pr65, which fell from $2,100 to $1,400.

Proof Sets, always popular among collectors, turned in a mixed year. 1990-S Proof Sets climbed from $10.25 to $17, for a 66% increase; 1991-S sets went from $11.60 to $17.50 for a 51% increase. Other sets showed comparable losses. The 1981-S set dropped from $9.35 to $5.60, and the 1973-S from $8 to $4.90. Mint Sets, usually considered pretty mundane as far as enormous profits go, could have made money for even the smallest investor. Bid for the 1974 set increased from $3.90 to $5.00, a 28% annual return; the 1978 sets climbed from $3.85 to $4.90, for a 27% return.

1992 Auction Highlights

1992 proved to be another banner year for numismatic auctions. Auctions by Bowers & Merena hosted five major events, with total prices realized exceeding $13.5 million. Top honors go to the $3.4 million realized at their January FUN Show Sale (The James D. Brilliant & William R. Sieck Collections). Bowers' auctions have been very popular with both collectors and dealers seeking collector coins (valued below $7,500).

Heritage continued to place emphasis on their "Bullet" sale concept, offering quick turn-around times on auction sales made up entirely of certified coins. During 1992, Bullet sales yielded a total prices realized of $8.5 million. Heritage's 'signature' sales realized an additional $7 million, with the A.N.A. tour de force yielding $5.5 million.

Stack's held eight major sales during 1992, with total prices realized exceeding $16.9 million. The Floyd Starr sale, held during October, realized a magnificent $6.2 million. Stack's also presented a number of Coin Galleries sales, adding another $3.6 million to their annual sales.

Superior Galleries hosted eight numismatic auctions, with total prices of more than $32 million reported. Superior started 1992 with their February blockbuster, the Roger S. Cohen and Century Collection Sale, realizing $8.85 million. Superior has also been expanding their auction sales of other collectibles; their sales of everything from Art Glass to Inverted Jennies realized another $11.5 million.

ICTA, the Industry Council for Tangible Assets, announced in late December a major victory for dealers in the decade-long battle on the issue of broker reporting. In proposed regulations dating back to March 1983 and January 1984, dealers were required to file an IRS form 1099-B on most bullion transactions. As reported in the Federal Register of Dec. 14, 1992 (and the IRS Revenue Procedure 92-103 of Dec. 28, 1992), the final regulations have given ICTA nearly every point desired. The new regulations, retroactive to July 1, 1983, allow dealers to purchase up to the minimum CFTC-approved contract size without the expense of reporting the transaction.. ICTA has a reporting kit available with all of the details — contact them at 703-847-1740 or 504-682-6818.

ICTA 6045 Triumph! IRS Makes Life a Little Easier As Coin Reporting Laws Finalized

by David L. Ganz

It's time for coin dealers to breathe a sigh of relief about Regulation 6045, the tax-reporting legislation that has been pending for a full decade, and which threatened to wreak havoc on the way that dealers and investors either buy, sell or trade coins.

On December 11, 1992, the Internal Revenue Service issued the final version of Regulation 6045 through Treasury Decision 8452. This formally clarified a controversy that began Nov. 15, 1982, when the IRS issued the first set of regulations purporting to govern purchases of various precious metals (including many coins). For a decade, there has been confusion regarding the purchase or sale of precious metal coins (or certain bullion substitutes, and indeed, bullion rounds and bars). Were these transactions covered by complicated regulations (and proposed regulations) that sometimes took diametrically opposed positions? If indeed they were covered, then the IRS claimed that the purchase of even a single common-date, circulated Mercury Dime (whether over-the-counter, at a show, or as part of a larger transaction) would have required extensive paperwork (yielding a 1099B informational return, as well as a computerized filing requirement with Uncle Sam).

Regulation 6045, and all the confusion surrounding it, affected the way that collectors and investors bought and sold their rare coins and bullion coinage — Krugerrands, Maple Leafs and American Gold Eagles alike. This aspect of the intense governmental regulatory pressure being brought upon the coin business since 1982 has had a keen impact on dealers who buy, investors who sell, and in fact anyone who could be termed more than a casual buyer or seller of coins — or even collectors who only trade coins!

Intentions

Initially, the IRS's regulations were intended to provide information; that's all that a 1099 or 1099B form does. But, in reality, the ultimate goal was revenue-loss prevention. Through Regulation 6045, the federal bureaucracy initially required that the purchase of bullion and semi-precious coins be reported to the IRS (proceeds only, regardless of profit or loss), and that a 1099B tax form be issued by the purveyor. This reporting also had to be done by magnetic (computer) media, unless an exemption was promptly applied for — this, in 1983, before most dealers even considered personal computers as office tools.

The text of the law seemed to say that only items approved for trading by the Commodities Future Trading Commission (CFTC) were covered, but an early inquiry made to the IRS resulted in a much broader interpretation. So broad was the IRS view, that it claimed that a 1964 silver Roosevelt dime purchased for 40-cents was a covered (reportable) transaction because it represented a fractional part of a $1,000 bag of silver coins (the CFTC trading unit).

Coin dealers were certain that this could not have been the intent of Congress, so a trade lobbying group was formed to combat the IRS interpretation. The Industry Council for Tangible Assets (ICTA) began with the goal of persuading the IRS, Congress, or both, that Regulation 6045 was only intended to provide information about large-volume commodity traders (who were suspected of under-reporting their income). ICTA embraced the view that simple coin collectors, investors or dealers, who bought, sold, and traded coins (often without profit or for minimal gain) were not intended to be covered. The IRS took the opposite viewpoint, and the 'war' of press releases escalated when they began issuing penalty notices to dealers who failed to comply with the IRS interpretation. In one case, a Western dealer was fined $50,000 for failure to comply (a fine later rescinded).

To the coin community, the regulations represented governmental overkill. They would have proved costly to the consumers whether buying or selling coins. The paperwork cost to record a transaction was projected at $7.50 to $20 every time that an item was sold. In many cases, this was more than the dealer's profit on the entire transaction — and could even be larger than the transaction itself! The cost of compliance was going to be borne by the consumer — the collector or investor — who would receive less from any dealer offering to buy.

Tax Forms & Other Friends

Many Americans are familiar with the 1099 form, received each year from a stock that they held, owned, or sold, or from a broker who handled the transactions for them. Dividends paid by the stock, or gross proceeds from the sale of stock, are tallied; recipients are obligated to report such on their tax return (typically due April 15). Where a stock sale is involved, it may produce a capital gain, a capital loss, or neither. So, too, it is with coins — except that the IRS view in 1982-83 appeared to be that the entire proceeds from every coin sale were profit.

ICTA's victory has changed all that. Vest pocket dealers who purchased a Canadian Maple Leaf, or a Krugerrand - or even a rare-date 1932-D Washington Quarter (which could legally be included in a CFTC silver coin contract, but never would be) can breathe a sigh of relief. The collector trading a 1946-D Roosevelt Dime at his coin club can breathe a sigh of relief. And most dealers across the country who do not trade in CFTC quantities can breathe a collective sigh of relief. The IRS, thanks to 10 years of hard work by ICTA, doesn't need to receive notice of your every action. In fact, the IRS doesn't need to receive notice that a coin that you purchased for $800 in 1980 now brings only $350 on resale. You can, of course, still take this as a capital loss on your tax return; if you sold seven such coins (taking a loss of $450 per coin), you would have a capital loss of $3,150. The first $3,000 can be offset against ordinary income; the $150 balance is a carry-forward loss that you can use in succeeding years, subject to certain limitations. Consult your accountant or attorney.

A Victory for Common Sense

In mid-December, ICTA and the IRS separately announced that the broker reporting issue had been resolved to the satisfaction of all parties. The final decision was formalized in Revenue Procedure 92-103, issued in the Internal Revenue Bulletin 1992-52, dated December 28, 1992, which puts a coda to the controversy by retroactively establishing an effective date to the amended regulations of July 1, 1983 — nine years earlier!

Specifically, the final regulations provide that no information return is required from a "broker" for the sales of precious metals that are identified by the term "excepted sales". As a practical matter, "broker" means dealer, but can also be a collector who engages in repeated casual purchases over the year under the IRS definition; certainly many investors and firms will qualify as brokers. Thus, virtually everyone who buys, sells, or trades in a coin — or holds them for some period of time — is potentially covered under the regulations. The 'victory' lies in the IRS's statement that "specifically tailored rules that except certain transactions from the information reporting requirements will more appropriately balance the cost of reporting against the improvement in compliance attributable to reporting than a general de minimis rule."

ICTA, in its decade long argument with the IRS, had argued that either most sales ought to be exempted entirely, or that a minimum floor ought to be set for reporting — similar to the cash reporting requirement floor of $10,000. Few of these lower-valued sales were likely to involve any taxable income, and the cost burden to the consumer would be reduced. The IRS's approach was to opt for a disqualification of all but the largest investment transactions (which is probably what Congress intended in the first place). The IRS's position reveals a certain unstated mind-set: 'the reports are due from everyone, but we'll allow the little guys some leeway.'

The Revenue Procedure issued by the IRS provides that "A Sale of a precious metal in a form that may be used to satisfy a CFTC-approved regulated futures contract is an excepted sale ... provided the quantity of the precious metal sold (in terms of weight or number of items) is less than the minimum amount needed to satisfy a CFTC-approved regulated futures

The CDN MONTHLY SUPPLEMENT is a supplement to the weekly COIN DEALER Newsletter (Greysheet); both report the national Dealer-to-Dealer, wholesale coin market, monitoring all possible transactions and offers to buy and sell coins sight seen. The coins may be certified or "Raw" (uncertified), but the grading MUST ADHERE to the current leading standard. Bids reported also consider activity in the certified SIGHT-UNSEEN market; such bids may include consideration of all costs attendant to certification for a particular service. Bids for a "Raw" coin may be higher or lower than for a certified specimen due to current market conditions. The CDN may not change Bid just because a dealer lowers his Bid, but will be strongly influenced by sells which are lower than current Bid/Ask levels. The CERTIFIED COIN DEALER Newsletter provides Bids for certified coins only.

The Coin Dealer Newsletter (USPS # 008248) is published by CDN Inc., 18807 Crenshaw Place, Torrance, CA 90504-5923. Second-Class postage paid at Torrance, CA. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to CDN, P.O. Box 11099, Torrance, CA 90510.

contract." Practically, this means that the CFTC's minimum contracts (1,000 ounce silver bars, 1 Kilo Gold bars, $1,000 bags of silver coins of the same denomination, 25 ounces of Krugerrands or Maple Leafs or Mexican Onzas, etc.) will constitute the threshold.

IRS is Found in the Details

For those interested in history, the initial Proposed Regulations were published by the IRS in the Federal Register more than ten years ago — November 15, 1982. They defined a broker as a person willing to transfer property, redeem securities, retrieve indebtedness or engage in a closing transaction "in securities, commodities for future contracts for others." There was initial confusion regarding what was being regulated (and what was omitted). The CFTC's June 1982 publication No. 3, Futures Facts, listed Copper, Gold, Palladium, Platinum, Silver, U.S. silver coins, and certain Foreign currencies. The CFTC's Press Release of December 20, 1983 approved certain unspecified gold coins that dealers understood to include the Krugerrand, the Maple Leaf, and the Onza.

The CFTC has broad authority to regulate transactions for delivery of such precious metal items in large quantities (pursuant to standard margin or leverage account contracts), but had never been concerned with smaller purchases. Their statutory concern (per their enabling legislation) was directed towards preventing "excessive speculation" resulting in price fluctuations in the marketplace. A Mercury Dime traded at a coin club was hardly "excessive speculation". The Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982 (TEFRA), Pub. L.#97-248, refers continually to entities that can only be characterized as commodity brokers, commodity dealers, securities brokers, or securities dealers.

The list of CFTC covered contracts has never been clear-cut. Trading was approved for 100 ounce gold bars on the Commodity Exchange (COMEX) in New York and the MidAmerica Commodity Exchange; the Chicago Board of Trade contracts for 32.15 troy ounces (one Kilo) of Gold. The Chicago BOT contracts for 1,000 ounce Silver Bars, while the COMEX trades 5,000 ounce Silver bars. The CFTC also regulates trade in 100 ounce Palladium bars and 25 ounce Platinum bars. Significantly, $1,000 U.S. Silver coin bags (of pre-1964 dated coins of the same denomination) have been approved for trading along with a number of gold coins, but are not currently traded. These dormant contracts, according to the Code of Federal Regulations, may not be traded again without CFTC re-approval. The IRS contends (and has so stated in the 1993 Regulations) that even the dormant contracts are covered.

In June of 1983, ICTA began a significant lobbying effort, arguing first that the law was never meant to apply to collectors or dealers, and secondly, that economics precluded recording minimal transactions; the reporting cost of $7.50 to $20 per report would be greater than many transactions, and greater than the profit on many more. In July of 1983, ICTA persuaded a member of the Senate Finance Committee to insert a rebuke to the IRS into their report covering annual appropriations. Senate Report 98-186 stated that "The Committee is concerned that regulations issued by the ... (IRS) relating to section 6045 ... incorrectly interpret the scope of the law. The Committee urges that the final regulations be revised to be mindful of the intent of Congress .... The Committee feels that it is inappropriate for the IRS to consider persons acting not as middlemen but for themselves as brokers. Specifically, coin dealers purchasing for their inventory ... should not be considered brokers and should not be forced to report all their individual purchases to the IRS."

Despite extensive negotiations with ICTA, the IRS's Press Release of June 2, 1984 (#1984-57) disagreed with both ICTA's view and the intent of Congress as explained by the Appropriations Committee. (In the arcane world of revenue gains and losses, IRS Press Releases are important to tax lawyers as establishing precedent. The IRS favors them over Regulations, Revenue Rulings or Treasury Decisions because they require fewer bureaucratic 'sign-offs'). According to the IRS's view of Congress' intentions, "since January 1, 1984, information reporting is required on certain sales of South African Krugerrand, Canadian Maple Leaf and Mexican one ounce gold coins. Broker reporting regulations ... require information reporting on sales of property that could be delivered to satisfy a contract approved for trading by the CFTC. This is so whether or not contracts are actively traded." Thus, even the purchase of a single Krugerrand required the generation of a Form 1099B.

The Senate Appropriations Committee reacted in Senate Report No. 98-562, issued July 17, 1984, flatly stating that the regulations prepared by the IRS "incorrectly interpret the scope of the law." The IRS enlisted the aid of the Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Senator Robert Dole; on the Senate floor on July 25, 1984, Dole declared the IRS interpretation "both reasonably and clearly consistent with Congressional intent in enacting the provision."

The IRS released their new proposed temporary regulations, which included clarifying examples:

Example 16. W, a coin dealer, regularly advertises that it will purchase gold items for their bullion value. Since W stands ready to effect sales to be made by others, W is a broker. [The transaction is reportable].

Example 17. X, a coin dealer, regularly buys gold items when they are offered for sale and this is known to sellers of such items. Since X stands ready to effect sales to be made by others, X is a broker whether or not it advertises.

The temporary regulations promulgated by the IRS in 1984 attempted to exclude 'rare' coins, by excluding items worth more than 15% above their bullion value. This seemingly simple approach had to be rejected due to the problem of fractional bullion gold, which often carried higher premiums, and whose eligibility could vary from day to day, or even from fix to fix.

The intervening years have been filled with nearly continuous discussion and negotiation between ICTA and the IRS. Although it must be noted that ICTA's efforts were often in proportion to the financial support received from member dealers, a core of supporters enabled the fight to continue forward. The impending change in Administration seems to have been the final impetus that moved the Regulations to conclusion.

What is interesting is that the argument that won the day was originally made in June 1983 by counsel then advising ICTA: "not only is a single ounce bar, or a 10 or even 100 ounce bar of silver, de minima, but it is simply outside the scope of what the Commodity Futures Trading Commission is authorized to regulate, and outside the statutory intent of Congress, besides not falling into the language of the regulations themselves."

Thus, a full decade after a law was enacted, and confusing regulations followed, and thanks to the efforts of ICTA, the government has acted to decisively end a controversy that has consumed the rare coin industry. To help dealers conform to the letter and spirit of the law, ICTA has Dealer Reporting kits available; contact them at 504-682-6818 or 703-847-1740.

A COLLECTOR LURKS INSIDE EVERY DEALER

A Continuation

by Q. David Bowers

We told you to watch for a continuation of the previous article on this interesting subject - and here it is! The coin dealers we contacted enthusiastically shared their own collecting interests, and the replies pouring in have been equally as varied as those included in the first installment.

Tom Rinaldo of Yesteryear Coins in Bolinas, CA summed it up this way: "Sometimes I think that I collect collecting interests; almost any idea seems attractive. I just love old stuff... it is a slippery slope. Can you ever really stop until you acquire the finest known of every type of whatever it is?" Tom settled on collecting Massachusetts coppers "Because they are pretty, and because they are historic... But mostly because they are a realistic challenge. With less than 50 die varieties there are less than 50 holes to fill. Plus many are still unattributed which adds a lot to the thrill of the hunt. And they are the least collected of any State series. The last two factors combine to make my quest vaguely affordable."

Thomas Noe of Numismatic Investments of Ohio has spent the last 20-25 years initially collecting older tobacco sports cards and then zeroing in on authentic professional jerseys of former athletes who attended Bowling Green State University, his home town and the school for which he serves on the Board of Trustees. "I have always collected interesting collectibles from the Northwestern Ohio area which includes Toledo, Bowling Green and a lot of smaller cities. I have a fairly extensive collection of small size and large size currency from Northwestern Ohio..." Tom is now focusing on coins again, however: "It's just been in recent times that I've started to buy some coins again in my retirement plan simply because I feel prices are extremely cheap and that this market is ripe for a major run up in the near future. I've never really collected coins because I've always felt it was a conflict of interest with my clients that are trying to collect the same thing. But recently the prices have gotten so ridiculously cheap that I couldn't help myself!"

Harry Forman and Ruth Bauer of Forman & Bauer, Cheltenham, Pennsylvania, each responded, both listing many years' worth of varied and unique collecting interests. Ruth and Harry collect some things together and also have their own individual collections. Ruth got interested in three dimensional and also macerated postcards and macerated money objects because they were closely related to numismatics and also provided a challenge to see how many different pieces could be put together. She went on, "Another of my collecting interests were all the expositions from the 1876 Centennial in Philadelphia to the New York World's Fair of 1939. These items came in every conceivable material, metal, glass, wood, etc. I also put together a very extensive library of books from all the fairs so that I could research the history of each fair... Historically these fairs offer a wonderful background of the times. My postcard collecting stems from my looking through postcards to get the cards made for the fairs. While looking I discovered that I was really attracted to this hobby... It occurs to me that one road always leads to another as do hobbies. Years ago when scrimshaw was still approachable pricewise I put together a small collection. I loved the carvings and the personalized prose that the sailors would incorporate with their figures. I also have a collection of miniature shoes for which Harry bought me a special cabinet... my various collections have brought with them some of my most enjoyable hours, a storehouse of knowledge, and a lot of great people along the way. I think the quest for treasure is part of human nature, and I looked upon all my acquisitions as a way of preserving a little piece of history."

Harry's interests over the years have included "silver and gold commemorative spoons, ...tickets to political conventions from 1876 to the present (perhaps the largest collection known), Western Americana items - mainly receipts and checks from Indian territories, state territories, etc., exposition items from all American expos 1853 to 1964, love tokens on U.S. coins (400 different varieties), political items including quite a few scarce items, early books relating to numismatics prior to 1950, practically every U.S. coin scale made since 1854 and a few from colonial days, early newspapers going back to the late 1600s." Of this varied list he says, "All of the above items are in an average price range, and many are a real challenge to acquire. I used to collect early phonographs, still have about seven pieces, but they take up too much room. I also have a very large collection of numismatic postcards - never counted them but they number in the hundreds, perhaps over a thousand. You are aware that $20 used to be a lot of money for a postcard. Probably still is. For twenty bucks it better be unusual."

Lee Bellisario of Boston, Massachusetts is a connoisseur of American stamps and classic golf clubs: "...1948 to 1968, but only unused clubs. Since I have always tried to handle the finest coins I believe the perfect pristine clubs of this era are undervalued. This method of collecting also narrows the range of available golf clubs but it also makes the hunt more interesting. In addition I have developed a recent interest in American stamps. Keeping with my penchant for superb quality I have chosen to collect only unused never hinged stamps, a real challenge to my wallet and collecting endeavors."

Robert Rhue of Numismatic Investments, Englewood, Colorado likes to collect "antique lamps, antique clocks, antique furniture and Egyptian antiquities." His numismatic collecting interest "is Georgia Colonial Currency with the colored seals. I like them because they are among the only colonial currency issues which have vivid colors. This adds significantly to the eye appeal. Additionally many of them have interesting contemporary sayings (usually in Latin). I also like colonial coins because of their historical significance, because they are not available in quantity as many generic coins are, and because they are challenging on account of their many idiosyncrasies, all of which makes knowledge and information important and valuable."

John Highfill's list of collections would lead one to believe that he collects lists of collections: antique automobiles, record albums and 45 R.P.M. singles, picture discs, souvenir spoons, shot glasses, refrigerator magnets, china and crystal, silver one-ounce 39 mm medallions, "Playboy" magazines issue #1 to date, silver dollars, silver and gold commemoratives, limited edition collector plates, limited edition liquor decanters, antique furniture, baseball cards (and football and hockey cards), and books (including the entire "Red Book" and "Blue Book" series. His automobile list includes a 1956 Mercury Montclair 2-door hardtop, red & white (Grade 1); a 1960 Oldsmobile Super 88 convertible, white 2/ burgundy interior; a 1966 Corvette Stingray convertible, silver w/ black interior, 327/3; a 1990 Corvette ZR-1 Limited Edition with only 504 miles, black w/ gray interior; and a 1970 Dodge Coronet "Super-Bee" 2-door hardtop, 440 C.ll, 6 Pkg, winner of 38 trophies including Best of Show awards.

Besides collecting mint errors since he was 12 years old, Fred Weinberg of Encino, California, says "For the past 12 years, I have also been collecting Avalon & Fillmore psychedelic rock & roll posters from the 1960s. In addition to reminiscing about some of the Rock groups named on the posters, I believe the art work is a unique representation of a very exciting example of American culture of that time. I also collect

Bids for a "Raw" coin may be higher or lower than for a certified specimen due to current market conditions. The CDN may not change Bid just because a dealer lowers his Bid but will be strongly influenced by sells which are lower than current Bid/Ask levels. The CERTIFIED COIN DEALER Newsletter provides Bids for certified coins only certain autographs and memorabilia pertaining to the Rock & Roll scene of the 1950s and 1960s."

Finding it impractical to collect that which he sold, "as I would be sorely tempted to retain the most beautiful numismatic treasures of the ancients and to only part with the mediocre examples of the coiner's art," and feeling that "this would be unfair to my clients as well as not furthering my business in exceptional ancient coins," Paul Rynearson of Malibu, California many years ago started collecting musical instruments. "While I do not have a large number, those which I have, I play. It is not enough to research and classify them, but they should also be caused to excite and bring to emotion; this is, after all, the reason for their creation. One of my violins was beautifully painted on its maple back and depicts the seventh of the twelve labors of Herakles, that of Herakles capturing the Cretan bull. What an appropriate instrument for an ancient numismatist! This particular French violin was made around the year Napoleon was created Consul, and was likely so embellished to be displayed in the maker's atelier or at a luthier's competition or exhibition."

"Coin collecting came first at the age of seven," wrote Ed Milas of Rarcoa, Willowbrook, Illinois. "When I became a full time coin dealer in 1960 I was hoarding all the nice coins I purchased... I decided then that if I was going to continue as a dealer, I would have to start selling and quit hoarding. I made a decision to only collect a select group of ancients, foreign, and U.S. coins: Dodecas, Decas, and Octodrachms in the ancient series, multiple talers in the foreign series, and no motto half eagles in the U.S. series. I have since sold my collection of ancients and multiple talers, but still collect the no motto fives ... because at that time in our history (1839-1865) the U.S. had five different mints in operation, and this was the largest denomination to be produced at all five mints."

Deciding "not to compete with my clients on collecting rare coins," Fred Sweeney of Shawnee Mission, Kansas developed a list of interests which include Antique Advertising Posters; Cowboy items such as chaps, saddles, spurs, holsters, cartridge belts and cowboy boots; Early Missouri Whiskey Collectibles; Firearms, which are safely stowed away in a bank vault; and an assortment of collectibles of which he owns just one example such as an early Caille slot machine that also plays music, one early Bowie knife, a Galle vase, a juke box, and others.

Depending upon where he lives, Norm Pullen's collecting interests change. When he lived in New Jersey he collected New Jersey coins by Maris numbers and "had a very choice group of approximately 100 different varieties including an unknown die variety Maris 16S. After I moved to Maine in 1977, I broke the collection up and sold them all off. Now that I live in New England [Portland, Maine], I have been collecting Maine obsolete notes for several years. I have approximately 200 different notes including a very choice group of Maine Proof notes that came from the Christie's sale of American Bank Note Co specimens." But coin dealers really do like to collect coins, and Norm decided to collect something else that had the following requirements. "1. Must be legal tender, 2. Must be scarce to find & very underrated, and 3. Must be affordable and not cost a fortune." To meet these criteria "So what did I find to collect - Canadian large cents in full mint red 1858-1920. Again, this collection was a real challenge. Most Canadian collectors find the silver and nickel series to be fun, but they are expensive in high grades. Just try to find Large cents in mint condition from mostly red to full red and you'll see! Most old time collections of copper were cleaned or lacquered, so finding nice original specimens is extremely tough, but when you do they can be reasonable."

Larry Groskopf of Oakwood Rare Coins in Ontario has acquired a collection of British 5 Guineas, many of which are in Mint State condition, which include Charles II, Charles II - Without Elephant, James II, William & Mary, George II - Lima.

Paintings by Alexander Premister Procter, Michael Harnett, Sanford Robinson Gifford and Albert Bierstadt reside in Mike Brownlee's collection of 19th century American art. The Dallas dealer also collects ceramic plates with heraldic eagle designs that were used on early American coins starting with 1796. The designs on these plates are hand drawn and are believed to be produced in the United States between 1810 and 1830. Mike has about twenty different pieces.

Bowers and Merena Galleries staff member Frank Van Valen has "always had a taste for numismatic items that are a little 'off the beaten track' such as conder tokens from the county of Warwickshire, and counterstamped U.S. coins with full merchant names." Having been a coin collector most of his life, Frank "recently began a Connecticut copper collection, and I now own 16 coins representing 15 different Miller varieties. I also collect middle date large cents, liberty seated dimes, and unholed Liberty Seated dime love tokens by date." Frank is right when he says, "A collector is a collector...," and he lists his other interests as "comic books and stamps, but the hobby that brings me the greatest pleasure is my collection of rhythm & blues vocal group recordings of the '40s and '50s. I was six years old the first time I heard Elvis Presley, and like most of my generation, I was hooked on rock 'n roll. When I was eight years old, I got my first transistor radio, and loud rock 'n roll blasted on it day and night (much to my parents delight, I'm sure). As my tastes grew, I began to search out the roots of good ol' rock 'n roll, and one day some dusty old 78 rpm recordings opened up a whole new musical world for me. Vocal groups with names like The Ravens, The Five Keys, and Sonny Til and the Orioles sang so beautifully on these old shellac discs that I couldn't believe my ears. Once labeled 'race' or 'sepia' music, the black vocal group sound of the '40s and '50s was denied airplay on 'proper' stations, until it directly influenced white recording artists like Bill Haley and the Comets and Elvis Presley in the mid-50s. From that point on, the music gained a certain respectability, at least with teenagers. Nowadays, an entire hobby has grown up around these vocal group recordings, and a national organization, United Group Harmony Association (UGHA), has kept 'the sound' (as we insiders call it) alive for the past 15 years through monthly gatherings in New Jersey. These shows feature some of the finest groups of the past, along with many fine acapella vocal groups of today who flawlessly recreate 'the sound' for new generations. The hobby aspect has not been neglected either, as many of these recordings sell for hundreds and even thousands of dollars when found on the original labels in near mint condition! Best of all, I can enjoy two hobbies at once. I frequently sit at the kitchen table late at night, listening to my favorite R&B recordings and studying one of my many numismatic collections.

1992 was the year of the BIG DEAL.

No one was involved in as many of the Big Deals of 1992 as THE MINT.

In 1992, we purchased the following multi-million dollar deals:

☆ The Martin Paul Collection of Half Dimes

☆ The John Story Jenks Collection of early United States Proof Sets

☆ The R.E. Naftzger Collection of 1793-1814 Large Cents

In 1993, The Mint is looking to purchase more "big deals." Do you have an important collection of coins for sale? If you do, you need to call Jay Parrino first.

For important collections and significant rarities, THE MINT IS THE MARKET!

For more information and a copy of our latest price list, please call Jay Parrino at (816) 373-2646.

Morgan's Lincoln - 75 Years of Commemorative Art

Seventy-five years ago, the United States Mint began a daring experiment with its Commemorative coinage, an uncharacteristic break with tradition. The first American Commemorative coins were issued as part of major events. The Columbian Halves of 1892 & 1893, as well as the Isabella Quarter of 1893, raised funds as part of the celebration of the World's Columbian Exposition of 1892-1893, thus commemorating the 400th Anniversary of Columbus's opening of the New World. The 1900 Lafayette Dollar was to help raise the American share of the cost of Bartlett's statue of Lafayette at the 1900 Paris Exposition. The Jefferson & McKinley Gold Dollars of 1903 helped raise funds for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in 1904. The Lewis & Clark Gold Dollars of 1904 & 1905 helped raise funds for the Lewis & Clark Exposition. The five different Pan-Pac coins (50¢, $1 Gold, $2.5, $50 Round, $50 Octagonal) helped raise funds for the 1915 Panama-Pacific Exposition of 1915, celebrating the opening of the Panama Canal. All these were BIG EVENTS, in which participation was an absolute necessity for a country that was just coming into its own as a world power. Major events, major anniversaries, commemorated in coin.

The United States was obviously going to become a significant issuer of Commemorative coins. In less than 25 years, 13 separate issues (ignoring proof specimens) had been produced. The pair of $50s for the Panama-Pacific Exposition were (and are!) impressive - a serious effort to produce a coin of lasting artistic and aesthetic value, and perhaps even intended to be a little overwhelming. Impressive in the way that America was becoming a little overwhelming. (What other countries have produced comparable displays of their wealth)? So what if the record of actually selling the Commemoratives was a little spotty; there was demand enough to produce profits, and it never hurts to keep the engravers and other Mint workers busy. And of the 13 issues, only two were Silver Half Dollars, for anyone who thinks precedence and tradition always dictate policy.

World War I dealt a serious blow to the World Exposition business (if you want to amuse yourself some day, check out the difference between World Fairs and Expositions). Now there was a major event. Did the U.S. issue any coins commemorating the beginning or the end of the war? Where is the commemorative for a world made safe for democracy? No, the next issue from the U.S. Mint was the 1918 Illinois Centennial Half Dollar, usually known today as the Lincoln-Illinois. On the occasion of the 100th Anniversary of Illinois' statehood, the Mint produced 100,000 Silver Half Dollars to help Illinois defray the expenses of the celebrations being planned by her counties.

The Lincoln-Illinois coin established two new precedents, and both were warmly embraced by future issuers: The Silver Half Dollar denomination, and fund raising for local causes and celebrations. The 1920 Maine helped support the Maine Centennial Celebration. The 1920/21 Pilgrim Tercentenary helped local celebrations of, well, 'truth-in-advertising' says it all. The Missouri Centennial of 1921 raised funds for the Missouri Centennial Exposition and State Fair. The 1921 Alabama was to have supported the Alabama Centennial of 1919 — now there's a story. And for commemorating major events, who could forget the American Historical Revue and Motion Picture Historical Exposition in 1923?

So the Lincoln-Illinois was the first in a long line of issues that were not big events. Yet, it is not a coincidence that we know the coin as a "Lincoln", because despite years of television programming us with anti-heroes, we still need heroes who proved themselves to be a little bigger than life. And Abraham Lincoln, that skinny rail-splitter from the State of Illinois, proved that a will of steel could coexist with a heart bigger than even his 6'4" frame could hold. It may be fitting that Illinois would choose to celebrate her favorite son as she was celebrating her centennial, even though the two had little overtly in common.

The obverse was designed by George T. Morgan, based on Andrew O'Conners statue of Lincoln dedicated at Springfield during the summer of 1918. There is a world of difference between a three-dimensional head-to-toe statue and a low-relief coin model, and yet both works of art are stunning. We may properly credit O'Conners with the concept of what we can call the 'humble' Lincoln. This is not the vigilance of the Minuteman, eyes forward and gun at the ready to defend freedom. This is not the proud Washington, eyes looking confidently to the future, nor the determined face of Grant. This is a bust of a quiet man, head tilted slightly downward, a little weary, perhaps, but a strong face with underlying determination. We all love Morgan's Dollars, but this design truly is something special. Don Taxay described it as "a depth of feeling, an introspective mood that almost makes the observer feel he is intruding on the great man."

The Reverse was adapted by John R. Sinnock from the Illinois State Seal. (While Sinnock's designs were practical, they did lack imagination). Presumably, Sinnock was told to use the Illinois State Seal for the Reverse design, and it is a faithful enough reproduction. Uninspired, perhaps, but the use of the State Seal or Arms for Centennial coinages is thematically appropriate. Much has been made of the Eagle turning away from the rising sun (that is, towards the West, which is generally where one finds Illinois when starting out from Philadelphia). This doesn't strike me as a particularly dominant design theme; if you want the spirit of the opening of the West, I prefer the Conestoga Wagons on the Oregon

The CDN MONTHLY SUPPLEMENT is a supplement to the weekly COIN DEALER Newsletter (Greysheet); both report the national Dealer-to-Dealer wholesale coin market, monitoring all possible transactions and offers to buy and sell coins sight seen. The coins may be certified or "Raw" (uncertified), but the grading MUST ADHERE to the current leading standard. Bids reported also consider activity in the certified SIGHT-UNSEEN market; such bids may include consideration of all costs attendant to certification for a particular service. Bids for a "Raw" coin may be higher or lower than for a certified specimen due to current market conditions. The CDN may not change Bid just because a dealer lowers his Bid, but will be strongly influenced by sells which are lower than current Bid/Ask levels. The CERTIFIED COIN DEALER Newsletter provides Bids for certified coins only.

The Coin Dealer Newsletter (USPS # 008248) is published by CDN Inc., 18807 Crenshaw Place, Torrance, CA 90504-5923. Second-Class postage paid at Torrance, CA. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to CDN, P.O. Box 11099, Torrance, CA 90510.

Trail Commems. Now that is a western movement, and a setting sun that gives an artist something to work with.

Another interesting aspect of the reverse concerns the scroll held in the eagle's mouth, bearing the Illinois state motto "STATE SOVEREIGNTY, NATIONAL UNION". There is little doubt that Lincoln would have felt strongly about the NATIONAL UNION sentiment, yet it was under his government that the dominance of the Union over State's Rights was asserted. Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo (who is more famous as the focal point for the covering of Ms. Liberty's breast on MacNeill's Standing Liberty Quarters), took umbrage over Illinois' motto, and disapproved the design. His rejection was passed down through channels, and among other necessary legal design requirements was the order for the ribbon to read "E Pluribus Unum". Needless to say, the State of Illinois displayed her sovereignty and got to keep her motto.

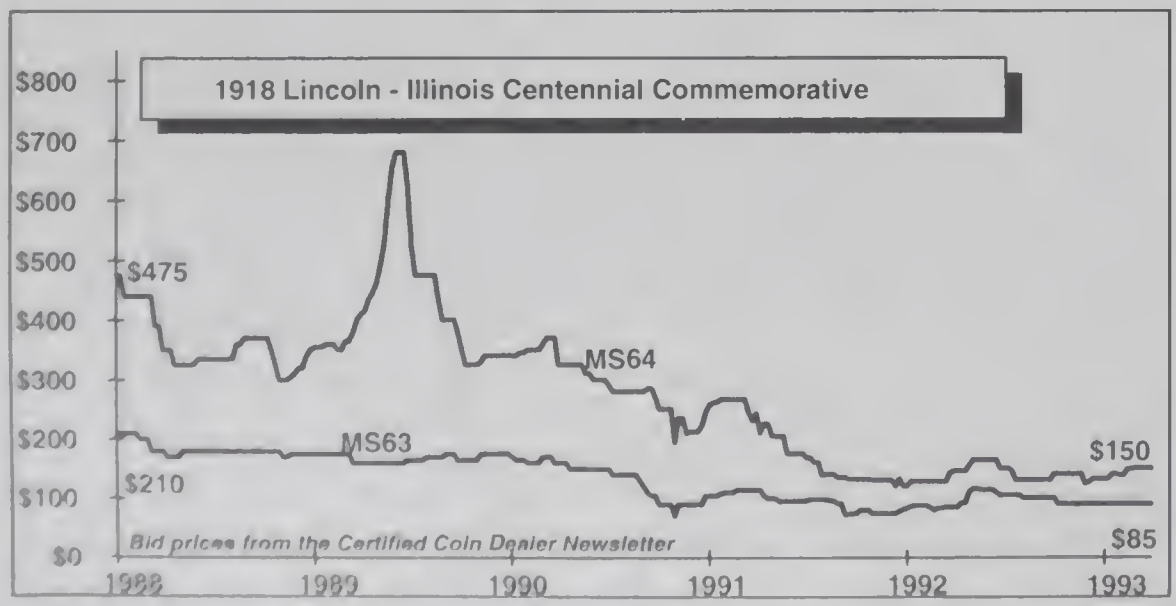

The Illinois Centennial issue had been authorized by legislation on June 1, 1918 (it is curious that the Mint, OK, so we all know that it is Congress, still always seems to be surprised by anniversary dates — like nobody noticed that 1992 came 500 years after 1492?). The coins were struck in August at the Mint in Philadelphia, so either an incredible rush job was accomplished despite the delays, or Morgan and Sinnock were working before the enabling legislation.

Owning a work of Art

The Lincoln-Illinois Commemorative Half Dollar is one of the great issues of the Twentieth Century (issue price was $1), and is bargain-priced to boot! Prices remained low for a long period of time mainly because large hoards went unsold in bank vaults well into the 1940's. In 1988, an MS63 was Bid at $210, and while this grade escaped much of the volatility of that year, it began a slow slide down to as low as $72 in late 1991; it has since picked up to a $85 Bid, and is still cheap! In MS64, arguably a most attractive coin, a little more market volatility begins to show. From a starting Bid of $475 in 1988, the MS64 rose to $680 in 1989, only to begin a slow slide down to as low as $120, and has begun to rebound at $150. This is a reasonable premium for the extra quality that an MS64 brings.

In MS65, you begin to feel the effects of the lower population figures, and the consequent volatility. The MS65 started 1988 Bid at $910, and climbed to peaks of $2,200 and $2,275 in 1988 & 1989, respectively. The MS65 reached an astounding $650 Bid in late 1992, but has since recovered to the $825 level — still a reasonable Bid for what is, in MS65, a staggeringly beautiful work of art. A substantial premium above MS64 Bid, to be sure, but still well off historic highs. In MS66, the low population really becomes a primary driver of value. Starting at $2,050 in 1988, Bid climbed to an astonishing $4,300 in 1989, only to cycle as low as $1,450 in 1992. The MS66s have since recovered to the $1,780 level. The collector has excellent choices available, and it remains a constant that there is a portrait of Lincoln worth collecting in almost any price range.

GOLD COMMEMORATIVES of the PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION

In the 23 years after the first Commemorative silver coins were minted (the Columbian Half-Dollars of 1892), only three silver issues and four of gold had been released. With the opening of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in 1915, the number of Gold Commemorative issues doubled.

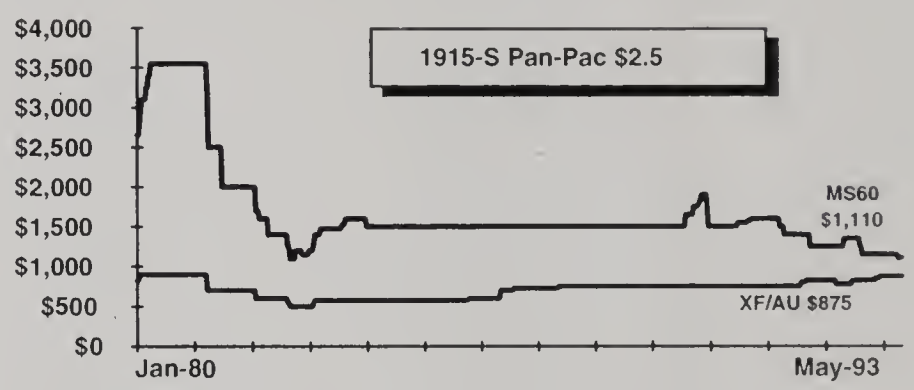

The 1915 Panama-Pacific International Exposition (Feb. 20-Dec. 4) was organized to celebrate the Aug. 15, 1914 opening of the Panama Canal. The magnitude of this achievement has been largely lost to this generation. A canal is fairly "low-tech" compared to something as elegant as a launch of the Shuttle, yet even spacecraft elicit little more than a yawn today. In an age where one can zip across the country (or the Atlantic!) in just a few hours, when a cellular telephone can put you in immediate contact with a large percentage of the world's population, and a fax can be easily transmitted to London from a moving car on the Santa Monica Freeway, what can you expect? The Panama Canal, even if it is one of the great engineering feats of human history, seems rather quaint. How easy to forget that California once lay literally at the opposite end of the world, and that a coast-to-coast journey meant weeks of hardship. It's probably a good thing the canal was built when it was; otherwise, we would still be filling out the Environmental Impact Reports!

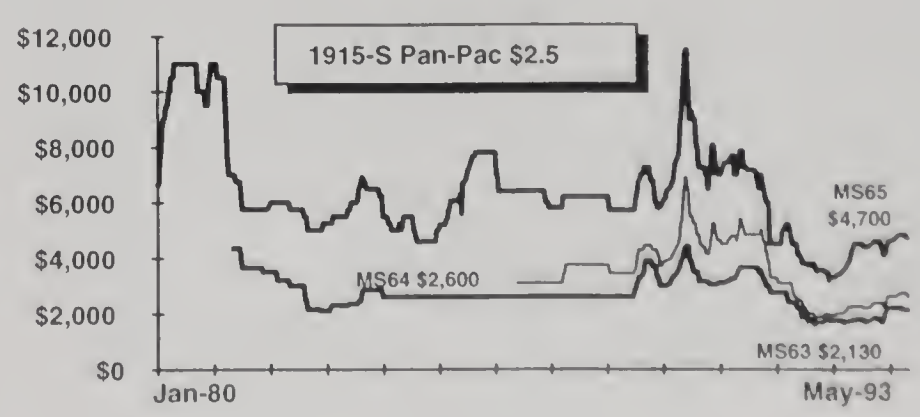

The Pan-Pac Gold Dollar was designed by Charles Keck, and the obverse depicts one of the Canal laborers; it is important to remember that, as the coin itself gives few clues (Keck's earlier models featured Poseidon and Balboa). Personally, I always thought the obverse had a Germanic flavor; in fact, it vaguely reminds me of some of the Goetz stylisms. Keck's reverse features two dolphins, which are supposed to symbolize the meeting of the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans; this might have actually worked if one of the dolphins had been an Atlantic bottlenose. Dolphins are entirely appropriate, as their friendly accompaniment of ships passing through the Canal soon became common knowledge. Please don't get me wrong - I actually like the coin, if for no other reason than because it is different; I just try not to get too carried away with "artistic vision".

The Dollar was first coined on June 29, 1915, following a long standing Mint tradition of issuing coins for fund-raising purposes well after the event had started; this is not to criticize the Mint, since the authorizing Act was only passed on January 16, 1915. Perhaps somebody forgot to tell Congress that a Canal was being built, and a celebration planned! Congress was deliberating during 1914 on a pair of authorizing Acts, and recognizing that timing was becoming a problem, the Treasury approached the Commission of Fine Arts for suggestions on artists. After 'jumping the gun', the issue was delayed when the Treasury Department couldn't agree on the designs. A net total of 5,000 were produced, and the combined PCGS & NGC population reports list the following: XF/AU-267; MS60-38; MS61-78; MS62-378; MS63-823; MS64-871; MS65-477.

The Pan-Pac Quarter Eagle was designed by Charles E. Barber and George T. Morgan, two of my favorite engravers. Barber's obverse is a remarkable blend of artistic concepts and historical allusions. Miss Liberty, or Columbia, or Miss Panama, is riding sidesaddle on what purports to be a hippocampus. The rider is facing backward, rather than English style; it is difficult to comment on appropriate saddle techniques when riding the hippocampus. Breen, in his wonderful Complete Encyclopedia of U.S. and Colonial Coins, good-humoredly suggests that perhaps this all alluded to "the Canal as enabling transportation of landbased goods"; I think it more likely that strange things swim in the murky depths when you mix the waters of two oceans with equal parts of bunker oil. The mysterious Lady of Panama holds a caduceus in her left hand, and we finally have a design element appropriate to the Canal: Colonel William Crawford Gorgas's remarkable achievements against the epidemics of malaria and yellow fever (you don't suppose that the yellow-gold color of the worker on the Dollar is...no, never mind).

The CDN MONTHLY SUPPLEMENT is a supplement to the weekly COIN DEALER Newsletter (Greysheet); both report the national Dealer-to-Dealer wholesale coin market, monitoring all possible transactions and offers to buy and sell coins sight seen. The coins may be certified or "Raw" (uncertified), but the grading MUST ADHERE to the current leading standard. Bids reported also consider activity in the certified SIGHT-UNSEEN market; such bids may include consideration of all costs attendant to certification for a particular service. Bids for a "Raw" coin may be higher or lower than for a certified specimen due to current market conditions. The CDN may not change Bid just because a dealer lowers his Bid, but will be strongly influenced by sells which are lower than current Bid/Ask levels. The CERTIFIED COIN DEALER Newsletter provides Bids for certified coins only.

The Coin Dealer Newsletter (USPS # 008248) is published by CDN Inc., 18807 Crenshaw Place, Torrance, CA 90504-5923. Second-Class postage paid at Torrance, CA. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to CDN, P.O. Box 11099, Torrance, CA 90510.

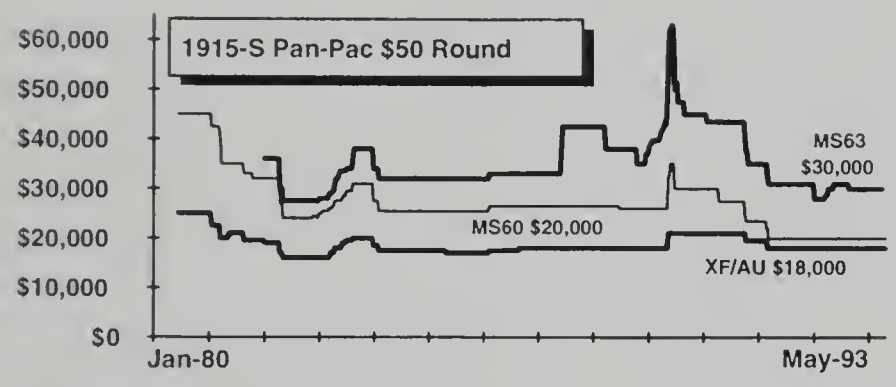

INVESTORS NOTE: The prices in the Newsletter are from Dealer-to-Dealer transactions. As an investor, you may buy and sell coins through a dealer for a fee.

Morgan's reverse is also quite remarkable in its own way. I have the impression that Morgan was told that at least one of the Pan-Pac Gold designs had to include an eagle, and this was it. We have seen this pose on other coins (in a less-warlike pose on Morgan's patterns of 1882, and later on Sinnock's 1918 Lincoln-Illinois reverse). The use of a Roman-style standard as a perch is most interesting, and coming from still another age when carrying "a big stick" was becoming popular, the design might well have alluded to the military implications of the Canal. Mintage for the Quarter Eagle was 10,000, with 3,251 later melted. Current combined PCGS and NGC pop reports show: XF/AU-53; MS60-6; MS61-21; MS62-119; MS63-292; MS64-540; MS65-383.

The pair of Fifty Dollar coins issued for the Panama Pacific celebration must be regarded as America's most impressive numismatic achievement. Designed by Robert Aitken, the coins have very little to do with the Panama Canal — but who cares? These are American numismatic art at its finest, even if nearly all the allusions are to the Classical World. The obverse features Athena (Minerva, according to Aitken) in her traditional Athenian helmet, and is an excellent rendition comparing favorably with the best Corinthian staters. (Curiously enough, there is a bronze Litra from Syracuse, 344-336 BC, that pairs the Head of Athena (per the $50) with a Hippocamp (per the $2.5).) Putting the date in Roman numerals may lend a touch of syncretism, but hey, America was about to take its place among the other great civilizations of human history. The owl long symbolized Athenian wisdom, but this is not the "bug-eyed" bird of the ancient world, but an anatomically correct modern avis sitting amidst the Western pine cones.

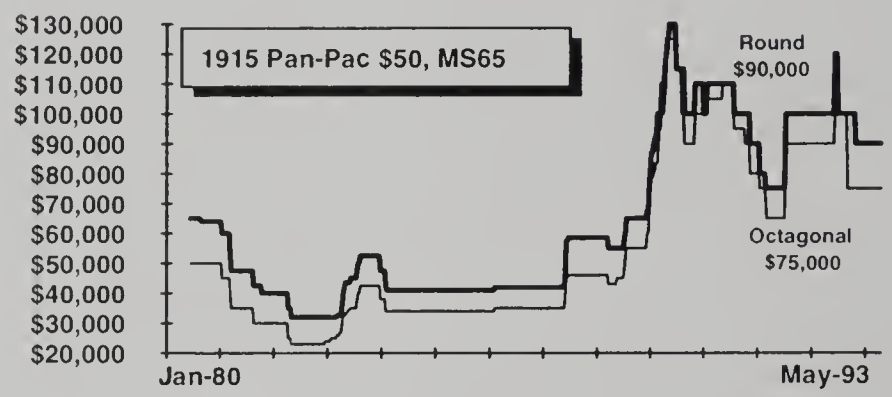

Aitken, in a letter to Acting Mint Director Dewey, explained his design:

"In order to express in my design the fact that this coin is struck to commemorate the Panama-Pacific Exposition, and as the Exposition stands for all that Wisdom and Industry have produced, I have used as the central motive of the obverse the head of the virgin goddess Minerva. She is the goddess of wisdom, of skill, of contemplation, of spinning and of weaving, of horticulture and agriculture. Moreover she figures prominently upon the seal of the State of California....Upon the reverse I use the owl, the bird sacred to Minerva, also the symbol of wisdom, perched upon a branch of western pine, behind which is seen the web of the spider, suggesting industry."

Athena, Minerva, Pallas, or Miss Muffet, she is still striking (even if the spider web was ultimately removed). Details of the lengthy approval process can be found in Don Taxay's An Illustrated History of U.S. Commemorative Coinage.

The Octagonal coin features a slightly reduced version of the designs as they appear on the Rounds; the extra space allowed Aitken to show a few dolphins; curiously enough, the Treasury did not like the dolphins - the one design element that had anything to do with the Panama Canal!

The Jan. 16, 1915 Authorization Act called for 1,500 of each shape to be produced; 855 Octagonal pieces were melted, as were 1,017 of the Rounds. With a net mintage of 483, the Round $50s have been rarer from the beginning, and have traditionally commanded a premium. Current combined PCGS and NGC pop reports for the $50 Round show: XF/AU-20; MS60-5; MS61-21; MS62-34; MS63-56; MS64-47; MS65-7; for the $50 Octagonal coins, the certified populations show XF/AU-34; MS60-13; MS61-34; MS62-78; MS63-76; MS64-31; MS65-7.

We will save the Pan-Pac 50¢ for another article; it is worthy of a separate discussion. We cannot leave the topic of Pan-Pac Golds without comment on one other aspect. By themselves, the Pan-Pac coins are an impressive set; when placed into their original copper frame of issue, they are magnificent; but when they appear as the double ten-piece set in frame, they are sublime. These truly are among the greatest treasures of American numismatics, and as great numismatic art, are still capable of generating intense emotion. In Bowers & Ruddy's 1975 Kensington Sale, one of the handful of ten-piece double sets was being offered at auction. In honor of this historic event, Dave Bowers reprinted in full the three-page offering circular of 1915 announcing the coins, and including the original price list. One enterprising reader was so moved by the beauty of the coins that he clipped the 'coupon' out of the auction catalogue and mailed his $400 check to the "Coin and Medal Department, Panama-Pacific International Exposition"; the letter was returned after several months by the San Francisco Post Office, being unable to locate the Exposition. Not willing to let the matter rest, our procrastinating collector complained to the Post Office that this constituted mail fraud, and demanded a double-set be delivered to him! If I had thought it would work, I might have sent in a check myself.

1992 was the year of the BIG DEAL.

No one was involved in as many of the Big Deals of 1992 as THE MINT.

In 1992, we purchased the following multi-million dollar deals:

☆ The Martin Paul Collection of Half Dimes

☆ The R.E. Naftzger Collection of 1793-1814 Large Cents

In 1993, The Mint is looking to purchase more "big deals." Do you have an important collection of coins for sale? If you do, you need to call Jay Parrino first.

For important collections and significant rarities, THE MINT IS THE MARKET!

the COIN DEALER MONTHLY SUPPLEMENT newsletter

Vol. XVIII No. 6 June 11, 1993 Single copy price: $3.50

How Much Is A 'Little Nicer' Worth?

The question came from a dealer friend with a reputation for asking leading questions. "How much is a 'little nicer' worth?" I refused to answer until he explained the question a little further. "Collectibles' markets, especially the coin market, are priced on the basic concept that the 'nicer' item is always worth more; this is self-evident in the 10-point uncirculated grading scale. So, how much extra should you pay, how much more should you pay, for a coin that is just a little bit nicer?" I decided on a safe answer, and replied that the premium one might be willing to pay for slightly higher quality depended on the coin, its rarity, the grades we were comparing, population profiles, current levels of demand, and fifty or sixty other factors. "All true enough, but you're not answering the question. Set any parameters you like, or better yet, on average, what is the market willing to pay for a little extra quality?" Did I mention that these questions were being asked by a former friend?

Actually, the question seemed legitimate enough, and granting all of the caveats associated with any "average" question and answer, it seemed like a worthwhile topic to explore. After all, the premium that the market is willing to pay for higher quality, lies at the very heart of coin pricing and therefore, our publications. If all uncirculated specimens of an issue were valued the same, would PCGS and NGC have graded more than four-million coins? It is not idle curiosity that drives the concept of grading.

Thanks to the fully computerized archives of the Certified Coin Dealer newsletter dating back to January of 1990, I decided to examine the average spread between adjacent Bluesheet grades for the main series. Taking Morgan Dollars as an example, the first average was obtained by taking the percentage spread for every date and mintmark combination between MS61 and MS62, and then taking the average of each of those comparisons; this procedure was followed up through the MS66→67 comparison, and then repeated for every issue since January 4, 1990. One million calculations later, the following chart resulted:

Silver Commems	14%	26%	54%	200%	168%	208%
Gold Commems	20%	59%	59%	137%	124%	124%
Morgan Dollars	25%	69%	147%	455%	250%	198%
Peace Dollars	25%	90%	213%	554%	300%	237%
Mint State Type	28%	82%	131%	179%	105%	103%
Mint State Gold Type	56%	130%	84%	152%	98%	98%
Proof Type	37%	63%	90%	128%	90%	98%
CCDn Average:	29%	74%	111%	258%	162%	152%

The chart should be read thus: The average MS62 Silver Commemorative will cost 14% more than the average MS61 Silver Commemorative; or, to be slightly more technical, the average MS63 Silver Commemorative will Bid 26% higher than the average MS62 Silver Commemorative.

At first glance, the chart merely confirmed a lot of what every dealer "knows"; for example, that when buying Silver Commemoratives, MS63 or MS64 often gives the best "value" because there is such a small premium over the MS61 through MS63s. And everybody knows that true rarity begins to assert itself at the MS65 grade, so the spread between MS64 and MS65 can be expected to be large. Less obvious might be the explanation for the 'lower' spreads between MS65→66 and MS66→67: Because of the much lower populations on many of these coins, there is much less bidding activity; dealers aren't wasting their time putting up appropriate Bids on coins with zero populations. Spend enough time with the chart, and caveats aside, you will find lots of points to be included in sales presentations.

Among the surprises, the high spreads on Peace Dollars topped my list, followed by the Mint Gold Type progression. Keeping in mind that you can probably provide as many caveats as the computer did calculations, I will direct your attention to the "CCDn Average" figures. Remembering that the effects of these percentage spreads are cumulative, following this line of inquiry means that the average CCDn coin Bid at $100 in MS61 will be Bid at $11,195 in MS67. That number is astonishing, even considering the caveat that the percentage averages will be 'pulled up' by the most valuable coins!

Because each of the charts was examined over 170 weeks, I expected that an examination of the changes in spreads over time might prove interesting. Since Morgan Dollars are among the most populous of the series examined, and because their high level of demand has withstood the test of time, they looked most promising.

Note that the horizontal line at approximately 25% is the average of the Spread line over the time period of the chart. As would be expected, the spread between the adjacent MS61→62 grades has varied over time, with a noticeable downward

The CDN MONTHLY SUPPLEMENT is a supplement to the weekly COIN DEALER Newsletter (Greysheet); both report the national Dealer-to-Dealer, wholesale coin market, monitoring all possible transactions and offers to buy and sell coins sight-seen. The coins may be certified or "Raw" (uncertified), but the grading MUST ADHERE to the current leading standard. Bids reported also consider activity in the certified SIGHT-UNSEEN market; such bids may include consideration of all costs attendant to certification for a particular service. Bids for a "Raw" coin may be higher or lower than for a certified specimen due to current market conditions. The CDN may not change Bid just because a dealer lowers his Bid, but will be strongly influenced by sells which are lower than current Bid/Ask levels. The CERTIFIED COIN DEALER Newsletter provides Bids for certified coins only.

The Coin Dealer Newsletter (USPS # 008248) is published by CDN Inc., 18807 Crenshaw Place, Torrance, CA 90504-5923. Second-Class postage paid at Torrance, CA. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to CDN, P.O. Box 11099, Torrance, CA 90510.

INVESTORS NOTE: The prices in the Newsletter are from Dealer-to-Dealer transactions. As an investor, you may buy and sell coins through a dealer for a fee.

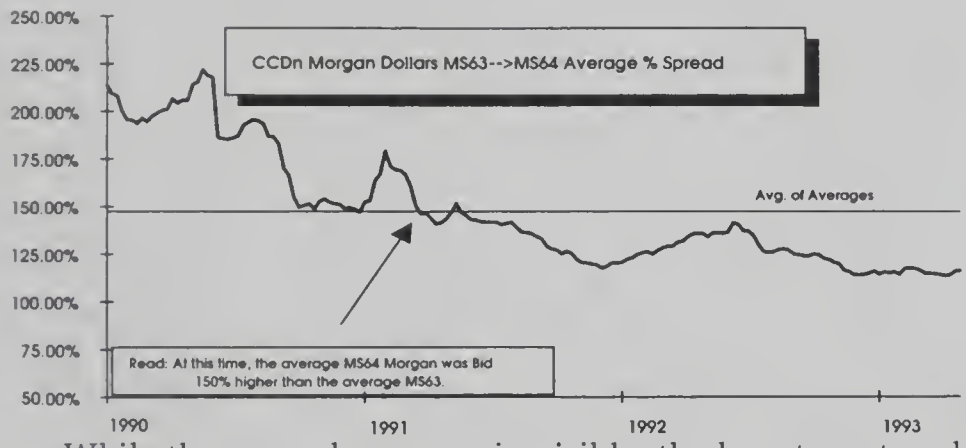

Subscription Information: A subscription to the weekly Coin Dealer Newsletter (Greysheet) is: $50.00 for six months, $89.00 for one year and $147.00 for two years.

trend since 1990; this naturally reflects the larger trends in the market since then, although it is not immediately intuitive that the percentage spreads would have declined along with the actual spreads. It is also interesting how rapidly the spreads increased during the up-cycles when prices were increasing.

The chart for MS62→63 is very similar to that above, although the scaling naturally reflects the greater percentage of the spread. The MS63→64 chart, on the other hand, presents a much smoother decline in the spread percentage.

While the up-cycles are again visible, the long-term trend of tightening spreads is most evident. Dealers have had to live with this phenomena over the past three years, which has been one more aspect of the changing nature of a coin market of lessening demand.

The chart for MS64→65 Morgans, on the other hand, presents a different picture. And this seems as good a place as any to remind readers of a critical aspect of examining the percentage spread between adjacent grades on any of these graphs: the spread between MS64 & MS65 will increase due to either an increase in MS65 Bid levels or a decline in MS64 Bid levels. In fact, the percentage spread between MS64 & MS65 (or any other adjacent grade) can show an increase in a week when the Bids on both grades declined, as long as the MS64s declined further than the MS65s! Remember what Mark Twain said, "There are three kinds of lies: lies, damned lies, and statistics."

The graphs for MS65→66 and MS66→67 actually show increasing percentage spreads during 1992, primarily due to the few numbers of trades of the highest grade coins, when compared against 'more accurate' MS65 Bids that have been tempered by the large numbers of trades of MS65 Morgans at lower levels.

With the facts in hand, I approached my dealer friend who had inspired this different look at Bid levels, and gave him the results. He was duly fascinated by the specifics, although I suspect that, in the main, they only confirmed what he had expected. His next comment, however, was totally unexpected: "Now run the same numbers for the Currency Dealer Newsletter". Maybe he really is a good friend, otherwise I don't think I would let him talk to me like this. Since the Greensheet has only three grades of uncirculated, I ran the comparison on each of the listed grades, just for fun.

I was initially surprised at the size of the percentage spreads on the lower grades, and made a mental note to compare them someday to the Greysheet's Circ Type. The real surprise, though, came with comparing the spread across the three-grade range of uncirculated notes (versus the seven grades of Unc. that the Bluesheet reports. The average note Bidding $100 in CU will Bid only $241 in Gem CU, or to put it another way, someone buying a Gem CU has much less exposure if the note should grade lower in the future. On average, someone buying an uncirculated coin at a substantial premium over the next lowest grade has a much greater exposure should the coin grade lower in the future (hence the popularity of the certification services). While we all know that the certification services have made enormous strides in consistency in grading, we also know that grading remains as much an art as a science. My dealer friend got in the last word: "Helps explain why the currency market has been doing so well, doesn't it?" Indeed, it does.

Part III

by Q. David Bowers

We continue with a third article on the interesting subject of what dealers collect! The coin dealers we initially contacted enthusiastically shared their own collecting interests, and other dealers have been anxious to publicize their special hobbies. These replies are as varied as those included in the first two installments (December 1992 & March 1993).

Jesse Patrick of the Patrick Mint in Santa Rosa, California, is another book lover. "I believe books and auction catalogues represent more bang for the buck than anything else in the entire field. Particularly important to me are the auction catalogues and the best of these have been printed or issued in the last 15-20 years, your own firm's included. They are so rich in information and numismatically important that I am astounded at how little they bring when offered. They can be collected in the sense of getting a complete series and have the tremendous advantage that they can be kept at home and referred to. Having contributed to the production of some of the Kagin sales, I can say that it was extremely rewarding to have been able to describe in print the discovery of the reverse die used on the trade dollars dated 1873 to 1875 that I shared with you earlier this year for your book on the subject. It was also rewarding to be the first person to properly describe an 1840-O half dollar with no mintmark and to do it right, giving proper credit to its discoverer, Bill Bugert... Even 35 years ago, when I was just a kid, I had a great time with auction catalogues. As for being reasonable in price, they generally sell for less than the cost to print them!" Jesse also collects famous autographs on stocks and bonds. "These include a host of the Robber Barons who played such a large role in American history, financial and otherwise. While not always cheap, I do believe these certificates are beautiful, interesting and very important historically."

"Once a horse lover always a horse lover - that is the story behind my life and collecting interest," wrote Cathy Bullowa of Philadelphia. "After college and meeting David Bullowa, I became busy with numismatics - this led to my becoming interested in coins with good looking whole horses - Ancients with entire horses on the planchet or a nice head. The piece had to have appeal to me. Then I have spread to paintings or other works of art with horses in them."

"I am a true dyed in the wool collector! Over the years I have collected most everything that's old, pretty, and expensive!" Larry Whitlow seems to fit the same mold that cast everyone else we have written about in these columns! "...virtually all antiques, classic cars, firearms, pocket watches, and coins. I assembled the finest known set of 1849 Large Cents by die variety and one of, if not the finest, sets of Gem BU Walkers. Currently I still have a superb set of Buffalo nickels... and am interested in Russian lacquer boxes."

Still another "list that runs on forever" belongs to Dennis Forgue, President of Oakbrook Numismatic Enterprises in Westchester, Illinois. "In the numismatic field I have narrowed my active interests to some rather limited fields. I collect banknotes, tokens and medals from Wales. I am half Welsh from my mother's side, and I find things from Wales to be of great interest to me, even if I can't read let alone pronounce much of what is written on them. I also collect tokens and medals issued by zoological societies and parks from around the world. This stems from my family's great interest and involvement with both of Chicago's great zoos. I also collect contemporary Banknotes, merchant scrip and college notes with the portrait of Lincoln on them. Having lived in the 'Land of Lincoln' and growing up in Springfield probably accounts for this interest. Outside the numismatic field, my wife and I collect Rose Point depression glass and almost any item with cats on them, from miniature Austrian bronzes to large paintings, which covers a whole lot of ground."

Texan John Rowe of Southwest Numismatic Corp. in Dallas collects Texas obsolete notes and scrip and financial documents. "My collection of these is the largest and most complete ever put together." They do things big in Texas, and John is no exception: "I also collect early books on Texas and have one of the largest collection of Texas maps in private hands from 1513 to 1900. I also have a collection of German regimental beer steins, and a collection of U.S. coin glass."

Sharing my own personal interest in Mucha postcards and posters, John Abbott of Birmingham, Michigan has "assembled the most complete set of Mucha postcards that could possibly be put together." John hopes to find time to finish a book he started on the St. Louis World's Fair, adding to his collection of St. Louis World's Fair material of postcards, medals, tokens, and ribbons.

Early Indiana art, music boxes, old horse drawn buggies and sleighs, and Indian artifacts round out the collecting interests of Leon Hendrickson of Silver Towne in Winchester, Indiana. Leon feels he has "one of the largest known collections of Indiana National Bank notes, both large and small size. My interest stems first and foremost from the fact that banks in small towns issued their own bank notes...", which he finds intriguing.

Collectors seem to have one thing in common, as Gary Sturtridge of The House of Stuart in Tonganoxie, Kansas writes, "...my wants are greater than my resources." Gary has narrowed it down to cowboys and Indians. "I have collected autographs of the early good guys and bad guys, realizing that often these groups tended to overlap... The Western interest then naturally led to the collecting of Indian artifacts. I have accumulated examples of everything from clothing to war clubs. In 1981, I started buying and selling antique slot machines and of course ended up becoming a collector... Slots then led to early gaming paraphernalia in general. I have one each of the early table games: roulette, chuck-a-luck, blackjack, and fargo. To accompany the tables, I have purchased some early gamblers' equipment such as card holdouts, second dealing boxes, and so on. To help tie all this together, I included some paper items from the period. I have

The CDN MONTHLY SUPPLEMENT is a supplement to the weekly COIN DEALER Newsletter (Greysheet); both report the national Dealer to-Dealer wholesale coin market monitoring all possible transactions and offers to buy and sell coins sight seen. The coins may be certified or "Raw" (uncertified), but the grading MUST ADHERE to the current leading standard. Bids reported also consider activity in the certified SIGHT-UNSEEN market; such bids may include consideration of all costs attendant to certification for a particular service. Bids for a "Raw" coin may be higher or lower than for a certified specimen due to current market conditions. The CDN may not change Bid just because a dealer lowers his Bid, but will be strongly influenced by sells which are lower than current Bid/Ask levels. The CERTIFIED COIN DEALER Newsletter provides Bids for certified coins only hung a few Buffalo Bill Wild West Posters and displayed some original "dime" novels, along with early Indian photos and Farmers' Almanacs from the 1870s. Finally adding a beautiful Lincoln letter from 1861, one will find an array of representation from the early West." Well, Gary, what are the hours of your wonderful-sounding museum, and how much do you charge to let people visit this interesting collection?!

One of the most diverse and progressive entrepreneurs in America, Bruce McNall has been successful in collectibles, sports and entertainment. His success in business centers around his first love - coin collecting. His boyhood hobby led to the formation of Numismatic Fine Arts International. At 14 years of age, McNall worked a corner of a coin store in Arcadia owned by two men, and at 15, he bought the store and operated it. After graduating from UCLA and studying in England at Oxford's Ashmolean Museum, McNall opened his first shop on Rodeo Drive. With an eye toward the acquisition of the very best, McNall bought an Athenian decadrachm known as the "Mona Lisa of Greek Coins" in 1974, and in 1991 acquired the 1910 T-206 Honus Wagner baseball card, the most valuable piece of sports memorabilia in the world. McNall's interests have expanded into thoroughbred horses, the movie industry, and professional ice-hockey (the LA Kings).

Some coin collectors choose perfection, while others look to the opposite end of the spectrum. Tom DeLorey of Chicago writes, "I collect, personally, coins of the Republic of Honduras of the 1878-1922 period by die variety. They interest me because they are very crude with multiple alterations of dates and/or denominations on the dies, some with overstrikes on earlier types. I got into them in a serious manner while I was at ANACS, and was moved to tears looking at box after box of BU Morgan dollars. I collect Honduras coins because they are not Morgan dollars." For sentimental reasons, Tom also collects sterling silver souvenir spoons of Colorado Springs and Ouray, Colorado.

Is it all work or all play? Tom Becker of Laconia, New Hampshire says, "For me, my coin collection is my business inventory. Six or seven days a week I work with my collection. I study the pieces, organize them, dispose of some and add others. Many collectors have suggested to me that it must be great to work with coins all the time and to have been able to convert a great hobby into a business. I think they are exactly right." But there is always free time, and in it Tom enjoys "collecting and working on motorcycles. I find this drastic change of pace to be very beneficial. In many ways, motorcycle enthusiasts are much like coin collectors, except we tend to be a bit more forgiving if a fellow collector has some dirt under his fingernails."

Another dealer working amidst his collection is Tom Caldwell of Northeast Numismatics in Concord, Massachusetts. "The coin business is an inventory based business. The need to sell inventory and raise funds in order to buy the next deal, at times makes it hard to 'collect coins.' However, over the years certain coins that were bought reasonable in a deal, or certain 'neat' coins have been put aside... I have collected some esoteric numismatic items such as Civil War tokens and type coin errors." Tom's non-numismatic collecting interests include antiques such as presidential signatures, pairpoint glass, music boxes, and clocks.

A common thread among dealer/collectors' interests seems to be a love of history and items that relate to it. Ira Goldberg writes "I collect presidential letters and documents, but only written during their term as president. I prefer things of an historical nature and anything of a numismatic content would be a special plus." An avid sports fisherman in both salt water and fresh, Ira recently has taken up fly fishing. And he plans to put together "a list of fifty of the most important Americans, people who have had a direct effect on our lives in a positive manner. At present my list contains approximately one hundred qualifying names. I'll spend about a year studying these people to determine which are my choices of the top fifty Americans. After I've completed this list, then I will attempt to get a letter or manuscript from each of them, hopefully with important content. The obvious people would be Edison, Thomas Jefferson, Albert Einstein, Mark Twain, et al. These people would cover varied fields of interest."

Joel Rettew has long held a passionate interest in the Civil War, considering it one of the greatest military conflicts of the Nineteenth Century, and also the defining moment of the American nation. Joel collects a wide range of the Civil War material available - guns, manuscripts (diaries, letters, etc.), tintypes, and naturally, the numismatic heritage as well. Part and parcel is a strong interest in Lincoln, whose dedication to preserving the Union is responsible for much of Twentieth Century America. Joel has recently opened a large store in Orange, California, and maintains a stock of Civil War items for sale as well.

Ron Downing, Publisher of the Coin Dealer Newsletter (and a dealer for many years before buying the CDN), is also a collector at heart. Although he lives with a wide range of antiques, ranging from Edison cylinder record players to Tiffany lamps, his collector's zeal is saved for his pride and joy — his world-class collection of coin glass. Ron's collection will probably never be complete, so make sure that you contact him if you have any pieces for sale!

Well, we hope the preceding list of the personal collecting interests of dealer/collector luminaries has been as surprising and interesting to you as it was to us. Our collection of collecting stories ends here, but dealers will go on collecting a vast and varied assortment of fascinating and historical things. Perhaps we'll gather together another collection of personal coin dealer interests some time in the future; I am sure every list will expand by then!

the COIN DEALER MONTHLY SUPPLEMENT newsletter

Vol. XVIII No. 8 August 13, 1993 Single copy price: $3.50

The Silver Commemorative 50¢ of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition

In our article in the May 1993 issue of the CDN Monthly Supplement, we looked at the pricing histories and some of the design considerations of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition Gold Commemoratives. In this issue, we will examine the 1915-S Pan-Pac Silver Commemorative Half-Dollar.

The Panama-Pacific International Exposition Half Dollar was authorized by the Congressional Act of January 16, 1915 (along with the other denominations). The purpose of the various silver and gold commemoratives was to raise funds to help cover the costs of the Exposition (running February 20 - December 4, 1915). The Pan-Pac (to use today's well known abbreviation) Exposition was organized to celebrate the opening of the Panama Canal on August 15, 1914. Built at a cost of $50 million, the Exposition was designed to be the flashiest "world's fair" yet. Some 19 million visitors came to see the exhibits of 44 states, a handful of territories, and 36 foreign nations, spread out across 635 acres in Golden Gate Park. Perhaps a few came for the exhibit of the United States Mint; doubtless, the racetrack and amusement park were more popular.

In our earlier article, we poked sufficient fun at a Congress that waited until the last minute for authorization. There seems little point in beating dead hippocampuses, but isn't it just a bit odd that legislation hadn't been previously prepared for floor action before the 15th of August? Numismatic entrepreneur Farran Zerbe's role in the Pan-Pac commemorative coinage is well known, and the story is told wonderfully in Q. David Bower's Commemorative Coins of the United States; A Complete Encyclopedia. Even Zerbe, for all his flair, couldn't get Congress to move in a timely fashion; in all fairness to Zerbe, one has to admit that he did achieve a greater measure of success with commemorative coins for the Pan-Pac Exposition than he did for the 1907 Jamestown Exposition. To be perfectly frank, looking at the design of the Half Dollar, the purpose of the Expo may well have had as much to do with announcing the 'rebirth' of San Francisco (following the horrifying events of 1906) as with the Panama Canal. For anyone interested in the history of numismatic art, the Pan-Pac Exposition means more than just the Commemorative coins; the grounds were decorated with sculptures by Augustus Saint-Gaudens, Hermon A. MacNeil, John Flanagan, Adolph A. Weinman, Bela Lyon Pratt, Daniel Chester French (who, incidentally, was also chairman of the Commission of Fine Arts in 1915), James Earle Fraser, Robert Aitken, Cyrus Dallin, and many others.

From a July 1914 memorandum from Mint Director Roberts to Treasury Secretary McAdoo, we know that two bills were pending before the Senate. One of these Bills, "pressed by the Panama Pacific Exposition Company, provides for three denominations of gold coins and one denomination of silver coins. The other bill, introduced by Senator Root at the instance of the American Committee upon the Celebration of One Hundred Years of Peace, contemplates the issue of twenty-five cent pieces with one side devoted to the opening of the Canal and the other to the Celebration of One Hundred Years of Peace." Ignoring such mundane facts as the Mexican-American War and the Spanish-American War, or that the nastiest war in the history of mankind was about to break out in Europe, these political machinations postponed passage of the Authorizing Act until January 16, 1915.

We offer praise to the U.S. Mint, for their foresight in trying to get a 'jump' on the deadlines by approaching the Commission on Fine Arts for suggestions on artists. A few words about this process in 1914 might be in order. Mint Director Roberts, in the same memo to McAdoo, noted that "it seems to be not improbable that one, and perhaps both, will pass, and in that event there will be scant time in which to obtain the designs, prepare the dies, and do the coinage within the time contemplated by the bill." Roberts went on to suggest a method of attack: "Unless the Secretary desires to deal with the matter personally, or has other plans, I would suggest that the services of the Fine Arts Commission be enlisted in obtaining the designs. I think it would be well to have the advice of the Commission as to whether it will be best for the Secretary to commission several artists of his own selection to prepare the designs, or to invite a considerable number of artists to submit designs in competition...I am bringing the matter up at this time because the Fine Arts Commission is in session today and will not meet again for several months."

The issue, with McAdoo's approval, was brought before the Commission that same day. The Commission recommended the following artists for the coin designs: Robert I. Aitken; Evelyn B. Longman; Paul H. Manship; Charles Keck. Alternates mentioned included John Flanagan; Augustus Lukeman; Sherry E. Fry; Leonard Grunelle; Janet Scudder; Bela Pratt. Paul Manship was commissioned by the Mint to design the Panama Pacific Half Dollar. While Mint records from this period are rather incomplete, we know that the Treasury objected to most of the designs submitted. Within a short time, responsibility for design of the Half Dollar was returned to the U.S. Mint.

Of the 200,000 Half Dollars authorized to be coined, 60,000 (plus 30 assay pieces) were actually minted; of these, 32,866 unsold pieces were recorded as being melted. A brief glance at the mintage/melting chart below may prove illuminating. The authorized mintage of 200,000 seems clearly enthusiastic, considering the authorizations, mintings and meltings recorded with previous commemorative issues. In the previous two decades, only the Lewis & Clark Gold Dollars enjoyed such a large authorization, and their fractional mintages were well known. The Mint's actual production of 60,000 was probably thought to be more than sufficient to meet all demand (and it was!).

Actually, the question of the minting of the Half Dollars per the terms of the legislation of January 16, 1915 was even more confusing. The 200,000 authorized coins were to be issued only upon the request of the Exposition Company, and were to be coined from machinery installed at the U.S. Mint Exhibit; for the purpose of keeping the exhibit in continuous operation, the coins were to be continuously remelted and reminted (honestly folks, we couldn't make this up). When reality returned, medals were indeed struck at the Exhibit, but the Half Dollars were struck at the San Francisco Mint.

Despite the Mint's efforts to meet the rapidly approaching deadlines, the coins couldn't be produced until the Exposition was about one-third over, and these time pressures are often given as rationale for the production of the dies for the $1 Gold Commemorative by the Medallic Art Company of New York. Since the Medallic Art Company was to do additional work for the U.S. Mint in later years, perhaps it was a deliberate decision to ensure that a 'second source' be kept available. Distribution of the Commemoratives was the responsibility of Zerbe, whose Money of the World exhibit was in the Mint's area. The Half Dollars were available for $1 each (they were sold to the Exposition at face value), or six for $5.

The CDN MONTHLY SUPPLEMENT is a supplement to the weekly COIN DEALER Newsletter (Greysheet); both report the national Dealer-to-Dealer, wholesale coin market, monitoring all possible transactions and offers to buy and sell coins sight-seen. The coins may be certified or "Raw" (uncertified), but the grading MUST ADHERE to the current leading standard. Bids reported also consider activity in the certified SIGHT-UNSEEN market; such bids may include consideration of all costs attendant to certification for a particular service. Bids for a "Raw" coin may be higher or lower than for a certified specimen due to current market conditions. The CDN may not change Bid just because a dealer lowers his Bid, but will be strongly influenced by sells which are lower than current Bid/Ask levels. The CERTIFIED COIN DEALER Newsletter provides Bids for certified coins only Advance orders for coins totaled $40,000, and records indicate that most of the pieces sold at the Exposition were individual pieces. It was Zerbe who commissioned Shreve & Co. to create the copper frames which housed the complete commemorative coinage sets (as well as the double set). To encourage sales, Zerbe also contacted American bankers with a special appeal; he met with some success, as most of the ca. 300 full sets sold did go to bankers. After the Exposition, Zerbe continued to sell the coins, and the Half Dollars were offered in quantity and in various combinations with the other coins.

A few words about design...

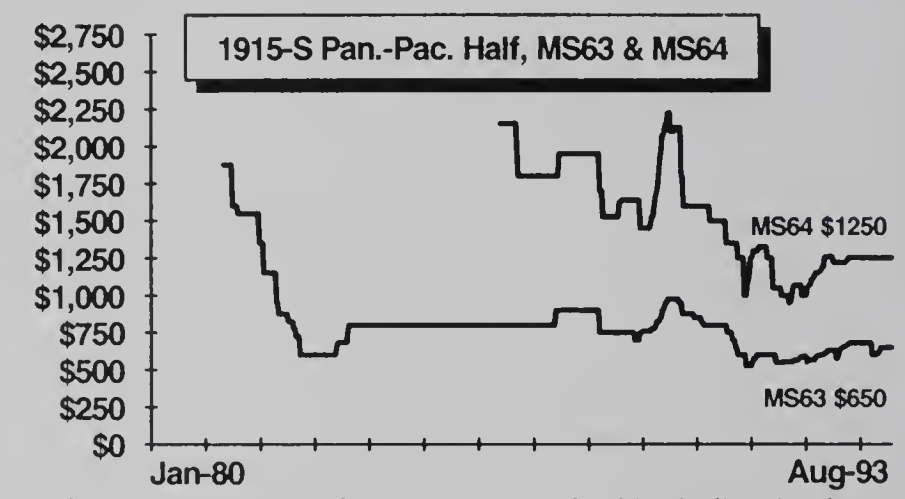

Charles Barber, Chief Engraver at the Mint, designed the obverse of the Half Dollar; of that, there seems to be little dispute. Barber's designs show Miss Liberty or Columbia scattering flowers out of a cherub-held cornucopia; in the background is a radiant setting sun over the Golden Gate. The cornucopia is supposed to represent the abundant resources of the American West, a concept more in tune with celebrating the rebuilding of San Francisco than the opening of the Panama Canal. The radiant sun motif had been used previously, on Saint-Gaudens Double Eagles, and would be used again, on Weinman's Half Dollars.

The 'ownership' of the reverse design of the Pan-Pac Half Dollar presents a few problems. Many texts simply list Barber as the designer of the coin; Zerbe's envelopes mentioned only Barber, and the labels on the framed sets likewise. David Bullowa, in his 1938 The Commemorative Coinage of the United States, attributed the reverse design entirely to George T. Morgan, an attribution in which Cornelius Vermeule concurred. The reverse design features a spread winged eagle (perhaps a trifle more lifelike than Morgan's more famous Dollar design) atop a rather large shield, with Oak and Olive branches in the fields. Do you suppose that Barber's choice of a 'Morgan-like' eagle on the Half Dollar forced Morgan to select such a different design for his reverse of the $2.5 Gold Pan-Pac Commem? Evaluating Morgan's work on Pattern coins, the reverse of the Pan-Pac Half Dollar looks to my eye more like a product of Morgan than Barber. Of course, being Chief Engraver of the Mint had more advantages than did the position of "principal assistant".

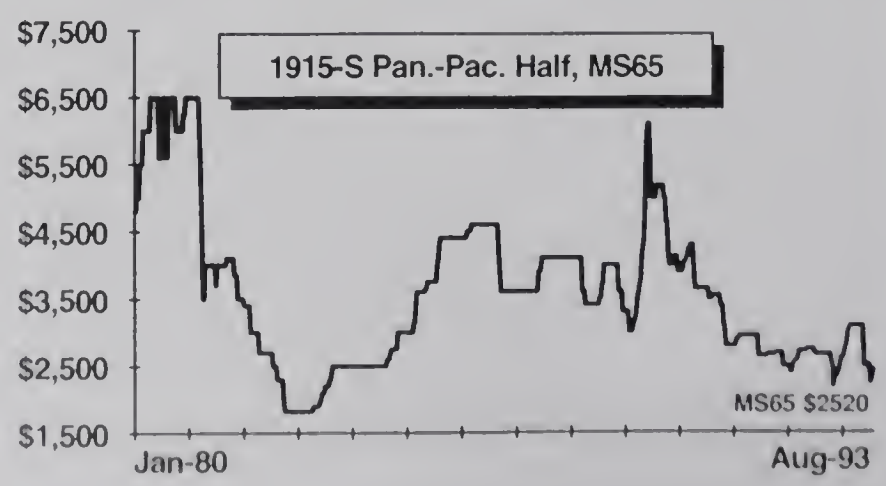

Like the other Panama-Pacific designs, the Half-Dollar is well liked; there is no denying the similarity of style to Weinman's much beloved Walking Liberty design of 1916. From a 'symbolic' perspective, however, the Pan-Pac design doesn't hold up well under careful scrutiny. A westward facing Columbia has little to do with the Panama Canal — the canal was East of San Francisco in 1915, and East it remains today. And no, Columbia cannot be standing on the East Coast, because the Western Resources are behind her and Golden Gate in front! To celebrate that grand achievement of Twentieth Century men and their machines, we have a design labelled "conservative modernism", complete with a Franco-Phrygian cap and ancient Greek clutter. Even Vermeule, in his great work on the artistry of coinage, poked fun at her "billowy lumination". Indeed. Vermeule also noted that the design was very similar to a Greco-Roman group in the Louvre. In case anyone was wondering, the Oak and Olive branches on Morgan's reverse are supposed to represent stability and peace. I really like the design, I just don't see that it has much to do with San Francisco or the Panama Canal. Incidentally, the Pan-Pac Half Dollar was the first commemorative to bear the inscription IN GOD WE TRUST, while E PLURIBUS UNUM first appeared on the Pan-Pac $2.5 and $50.

As the Bidding history charts demonstrate, the XF/AU Pan-Pacs have been reasonably level since 1980. The MS60 specimens have demonstrated a little more volatility, with a rather spectacular decline in the early 'Eighties; they were also relatively quiet during the big rallies at the end of the 'Eighties.

The MS63 Pan-Pacs also demonstrate the big decline in the early 'Eighties, although some of the worst is not apparent (the Coin Dealer Newsletter began pricing MS63s during 1981). Over the last decade, the MS63s (with a current combined PCGS & NGC certified population of 591) have declined slightly, but they certainly show only a fraction of the volatility seen in the MS64s and MS65s. The MS64s (with a combined population of 691), while not as volatile as the MS65s, certainly show the Rallies of 1988 and 1989. It is in MS65 (with a combined population of 328) that the Pan-Pac Half most vividly demonstrates the cyclical nature of the coin market. Buyers at the $6,500 level in the early 'Eighties probably thought that they would never see a return to those levels, especially when these Gems dropped below $2,000; yet, from that market bottom, numerous opportunities for substantial profits existed over the next seven years. When dealing with the more volatile gems, it is possible to realize a loss whether trading long term or short term, but it's also possible to make great profits either way. The Pan-Pac Halves show every sign of being at the bottom of another pricing cycle; this is a great time for the collector of beautiful works of numismatic art to enjoy the pride of ownership. Whatever the next decade of cycles brings us, that pride should be compensation enough to balance against the gamble of buying at the bottom of the last decade.

Early Walkers: Today's Precious Gems

by David Lawrence

Walking Liberty Half Dollars have been one of the hottest segments of the rare coin market the past few months. The "short set" (1941-1947) of this series has always been popular because the coins are beautiful and affordable in Mint State. Collectors who completed this last part of the series were usually tempted to continue on to the intermediate years (1934-1940), but were often intimidated by the early dates (1916-1933). In the past, these early Walkers were generally considered very scarce and expensive. Not anymore!

Perhaps it is inflation which has made these early coins affordable, or simply that we have an affluent society with many collectors being well-heeled enough to take the plunge. Regardless of the reason, today these early dates are being eagerly sought. Every dealer I know who carries this type of coin, seems to have a want list (or two or three) for dates grading MS63 to MS65. Most seek coins with a nice strike and "eye appeal" (in today's market, that seems to mean white or with attractive peripheral toning).

With the exception of three dates, the certified populations of these early Walkers are low (that much hasn't changed!). Demand for eye-appealing coins almost certainly exceeds supply, sometimes by a wide margin. This has fueled steadily rising prices. Bruce Fox's new book, "The Complete Guide To Walking Liberty Half Dollars" has also stimulated interest in the series.

A word about pricing. In the ever-increasing sophistication of the rare coin market, a two-tiered pricing structure has developed—with eye-appealing coins priced at "sight-seen" levels and others at "sight-unseen" levels. Dealers on the Certified Coin Exchange (CCE) bid on this basis. Sight-seen bids are monitored in the Greysheet. For early Walkers, sight-seen Bids are often almost double the sight-unseen levels (which are monitored in the "Bluesheet"). This is because a substantial number of early dates have unattractive toning and/or are poorly struck, regardless of the technical grade.

A word about strike. Sure, everyone wants a fully struck coin (head, hand and skirt lines), but for many early dates this is impractical. They just rarely ever come that way. So, settle for a decently struck coin — one with some three-dimensionality in the center. In my experience, given a choice between an attractive, moderately struck coin and a well-struck but cloudy or "dirty" toned one, most collectors will choose the former. In other words, they will sacrifice strike for eye-appeal.

The early Walker group has 26 coins. Much of the following discussion is based on the populations of coins certified by PCGS and NGC. For several reasons, the number of Mint State coins currently tabulated by these grading services isn't a perfect estimate of the actual number in existence, but these numbers are the best estimates we have ever had. There is some duplication due to multiple submissions, but this is somewhat offset by the existence of coins which have not yet been submitted. The population numbers below are totals of the August '93 PCGS Population Report and the July '93 NGC Census.

For current levels, an MS63 PI below 300 is undervalued; a GEM PI below 200 indicates coins which are undervalued.

As an active Bidder for Walking Liberty Half Dollars, I am always interested in relative value - that is, which coins are "underpriced" and which are "fully-priced". To arrive at relative value I have created two Price Indexes, one for MS63 and the second for MS65 & higher grades. The MS63 PI is established by multiplying the Greysheet Bid price (August 6th) by the total combined (PCGS & NGC) Mint State populations, and then dividing by 1000 to make the resulting number more manageable.

The GEM PI is established by multiplying the Greysheet Bid Price for MS65 by the combined (PCGS & NGC) populations in MS65 & above, then likewise dividing by 1,000. For current levels, an MS63 PI greater than 300 shows that the date carries a premium in comparison with other dates; dates with an MS63 PI below 300 are currently undervalued. For Gem coins, a GEM PI over 200 indicates coins which are premium priced and, below this, coins which are undervalued.

Date Analysis

1916-P & D: These can be taken together. Both come well struck, though with a granular surface, and both were saved as first year of issue. Current populations are 707 and 694, all Mint States combined. MS63 PI = 230 & 274 respectively. GEM PI = 172 & 174. Though abundant, these coins are a good buy at today's levels in MS63 and higher.

1916-S: Low mintage, but saved as first year of issue. Pop = 292 with 46 Gems; MS63 PI = 380; GEM PI = 166. This date has wide appeal, accounting for its premium price in MS63. A good buy in MS65 and above.

The CDN MONTHLY SUPPLEMENT is a supplement to the weekly COIN DEALER Newsletter (Greysheet) both report the national Dealer-to-Dealer wholesale coin market monitoring all possible transactions and offers to buy and sell coins sight seen. The coins may be certified or "Raw" (uncertified) but the grading MUST ADHERE to the current grading standard. Bids reported also consider activity in the certified SIGHT UNSEEN market, such bids may include consideration of all costs attendant to certification for a particular service. Bids for a "Raw" coin may be higher or lower than for a certified specimen due to current market conditions. The CDN may not change Bid just because a dealer lowers his Bid, but will be strongly influenced by sells which are lower than current Bid/Ask levels. The CERTIFIED COIN DEALER Newsletter provides Bids for certified coins only.

1917-P: High mintage and highest Pop (1323) of the early dates. MS63 PI = 192; GEM PI = 151. Pleasing coins can be found. Despite its high population, this date is a good buy at today's levels.

1917-D (both): The "Reverse," though of higher mintage, is far scarcer in Mint State than the "Obverse." Decent strikes of both can be found, but there are fewer Reverses to choose nice specimens from, and it commands a much higher price. Pop = 171 with 17 Gems (Rev); 320 with 27 Gems (Obv.), MS63 PI = 269 and 258 respectively. GEM PI = 187 and 131. Both are good buys at today's levels. The Reverse has greater potential.

1917-S Obverse: The "Obverse" is rare and highly prized, particularly if decently struck. With a total population of 89, with 17 Gems, it ranks as the second scarcest date in overall Mint State, and is tied for 4th in Gem. MS63 PI = 285, GEM PI = 136. Significantly undervalued in Gem condition, and always commands a premium in Mint State.

1917-S Reverse: The "Reverse" has a high mintage, and with an overall MS Pop. of 265, is usually available. However, its Gem Pop. is just 18 (tied for 6th scarcest). Much tougher to find with a good strike than the "Obverse". MS63 PI = 292; GEM PI = 151. Well-struck coins should be purchased at once! Currently undervalued in MS64 and higher.

1918-P: High mintage, but relatively low Mint State survivorship. Pop = 347 with 61 Gems. Decent coins can be found. MS63 PI = 260; GEM PI = 174.

1918-D & S: Both have high mintages and low Mint State survivorship (Pop = 200 with 11 Gems and 265 with 18 Gems). Both generally come weakly struck, but decent coins can be found. Strong strikes are worth a considerable premium. MS63 PI = 246 & 326; GEM PI = 143 & 173. The 18-D is the second scarcest date in MS65 and higher grade, with even fewer Gems certified than the '21-S. The '18-S is no slouch either in high grade. Looking at the Indexes, the '18-D is underrated, especially in Gem condition. The '18-S is a good buy in Gem, but currently a bit "pricey" in MS63.

1919-P: The 13th scarcest date in MS with Pop = 209 with 54 Gems. This coin generally comes well struck and has great collector appeal. With an MS63 PI of 428 it is fully-priced, but nice coins should still be purchased when available. GEM PI = 200.

1919-D & S: Both dates have fairly low mintage and low Mint State survivorship. These dates are highly prized by knowledgeable collectors. With overall MS populations of 96 and 90, they are the 3rd and 4th scarcest Walkers. In Gem condition, the '19-D with a Pop of just 3 is by far the scarcest date in the set. The '19-S ranks 14th with 31 Gem coins certified. The '19-D is rare in well-struck condition and it's likely that no fully-struck Gems exist. The '19-S also tends to come weakly struck, but some decent coins exist. MS63 PI = 415 & 416, indicating both dates carry a considerable premium in MS63; GEM PI = 93 & 233, for the D & S respectively. The '19-D is severely underpriced in Gem condition, considering its rarity.

1920-P: A high mintage coin, but few Gems are available. Strike is usually decent. Pop = 354 with 32 Gems. MS63 PI = 168; GEM PI = 170. Currently undervalued in MS63 and still a fairly good deal in MS65.

1920-D & S: The '20-D is similar to the '19-D & S in rarity and strike. With a total Pop = 120 with 19 Gems, it ranks as the 5th scarcest date in overall MS and 8th in MS65 and above. The '20-S has a Pop = 171 with 39 Gems. Strike is typically weak to average. Both dates are rare in well-struck condition and highly desirable. MS63 PI = 353 & 269; GEM PI = 143 and 254 for the D & S respectively.

1921-P & D: These two are similar in rarity and strike characteristics. They sport the two lowest mintages of the entire Walker series and have great collector appeal in all grades above Fine. Pop = 160 with 21 Gems for the '21-P; 155 with 24 Gems for the '21-D. MS63 PI = 520 and 566, 2nd and 3rd highest in the early group (due to their popularity). GEM PI = 183 & 206. Nice strikes are available. Interestingly, though available in MS, AU's are extremely hard to find, especially of the '21-D.

1921-S: The king of the Walker series, with low mintage and low survivorship. With a total Pop = 84 of which 12 are Gems, this date ranks 1st overall and 3rd in Gem condition. Strike is average for an S-Mint, but its price is definitely not. MS63 PI = a whopping 1,041. GEM PI = 300. Demand for this date is so strong that nice specimens should be bought when the opportunity arises.

1923-S: A rare date in XF & AU and 8th scarcest in overall MS. Strike is average, with well struck coins sometimes available. Pop = 166 with 24 Gems. MS63 PI = a high 394, indicating its desirability. GEM PI = 264 (also high). This date shows up on many want lists, especially in MS63 and lower. Nice specimens should be purchased quickly before they get away.

1927-S & 1928-S: Similar dates, though the '27-S is far scarcer in Gem condition. Finding a decent strike tends to be a problem, especially for the '28-S. Pop = 196 with 21 Gems ('27-S) and 225 with 47 Gems ('28-S). MS63 PI = 267 & 360 respectively; GEM PI = 149 & 216. From these indexes the '27-S appears to be the better buy, but nice specimens of either should be quickly purchased.

1929-D & S: Similar in scarcity, though the '29-S has almost twice the mintage of the '29-D. Strikes are variable with decent coins available. Pop = 407 with 119 Gems ('29-D) and 407 with 100 Gems ('29-S). MS63 PI = 189 & 220 respectively; GEM PI = 228 and 211. These dates will likely be among the first early dates acquired. They are affordable in most grades and generally available at large shows.

1933-S: An interesting date because it often comes well-struck with nice luster and eye appeal. This is probably the reason for its relatively high price. Pop = 421 with 122 Gems. MS63 PI = 337. GEM PI = 357.

Beginning collectors of the early Walkers often start with the 1916-P&D and the 1933-S. This can lead to the wrong impression that a well-struck, eye-appealing set can be assembled! However, if you are patient and willing to accept coins with less-than-perfect strikes, this can be a very rewarding and fulfilling set to assemble. In fact, the investment potential seems to be unlimited.

Coin Prices, Inflation & Gradeflation

One of the Greysheet's most popular new features has been the pricing chart found on page three of the weekly CDN. Dealers have been using the charts as very effective selling tools. Their 13+ year length enables dealers to present a long-term view of market activity. While it is true that the charts readily illustrate the market downturn since 1988/89, it is equally true that the charts show the cyclical nature of most coin prices — and in a cyclical market, buying low with the intention of selling high is an easily communicated concept.

There are two general drawbacks inherent in the charts. The first is that all of the Bid amounts are stated in contemporary Dollars, and thus do not take inflation into account. We all know that a dollar Bid in 1980 is not worth as much as a dollar Bid in 1993; or, to put it a little more scientifically, in January of 1980 the Consumer Price Index (National Urban) stood at 233.2 (per the 1967 base of 100), and in June of 1993 stood at 432.4. Since inflation rates differ geographically, as well as having widely varying effects according to purchasing patterns, it is more practical to ignore them in our pricing charts; we mention the point from time to time, and assume that both dealers and their clients are aware of the ravages of inflation.

The second drawback is a little more difficult to quantify, but is equally important in attempting to construct a true profile of coin pricing since 1980. Every numismatist, professional or amateur, knows that grading standards changed during the 1980s. The standard set by the Professional Coin Grading Service & Numismatic Guaranty Corporation certainly did a great deal to establish cohesive, industry-wide definitions, although confusion was inevitable in the assigning of new definitions to old grading names/numbers. The usual simple explanation is that 'grades were tightened up', but this is another way of saying the grades were deflated. The new grading standards forced both dealers and collectors to examine their coins much more carefully, with particular attention being paid to strike, contact marks, and other detriments. One major drawback of the change was that it cast in an unfair light those dealers who had sold MS65 coins in 1980 graded by 1980 standards and at prices appropriate for 1980; the 'tightening' of standards, by new definition, made the earlier definitions 'overgraded'!

It is extremely difficult to quantify the changes in grading definitions, and therefore we leave it to the dealers to explain such points. However, as an experiment, we recently asked several dozen of America's leading professional numismatists to give us their best guess concerning the changing standards of grading. The question to them was phrased thus:

Assuming that in January of 1980 you purchased groups of 100 of each of the following coins grading MS65 ("GEM"), and have just recently submitted them to PCGS or NGC for certification, what grades would you expect to receive now?

They were then asked to quantify their estimates for five different coins:

1881-S Morgan Dollar;
$20 Liberty (T.3) Type;
Barber 25¢ Type;
Liberty With Cents 5¢ Type;
1945 Walking Liberty Half Dollar.

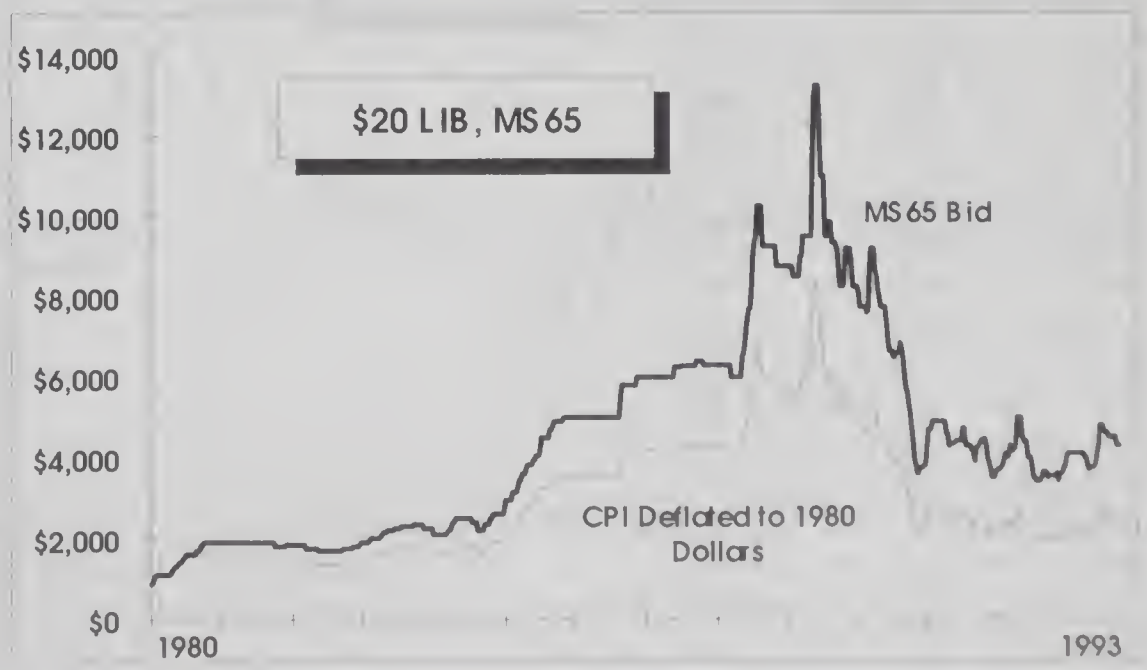

Before you read further, you might want to develop your own profile!

The results of the survey were tabulated, and then averaged in order to present whole coin numbers (and just in case you are wondering, none responded that they were such discerning buyers that all of their 1980 MS65s were still MS65s today!).

	1881-S Morgan Morgan	$20 Lib Type	Barber 25c Type	Lib W/C 5c Type	1945 Walker
MS62	6	23	7	6	3
MS63	42	46	45	38	24
MS64	24	19	27	34	41
MS65	22	5	15	17	25

As you see, each coin shows a different profile, with Walkers suffering the least grade deflation, and $20 Libs the strictest in this sample. It should be noted that these are best guesses, and cannot be applied to any particular purchase. Perhaps the most logical usage would be to say that if you bought an MS65 1945 Walker in 1980, you have a 41% chance of it grading MS64 now, and a 25% chance of it still grading MS65.

Following are graphs for the MS65 $20 Liberty Type, which suffered the most severe grading deflation (as a 'worst case' scenario). First, we subjected the MS65 Bid history to a deflating process to account for the diminished purchasing power of the dollar, according to the National Urban CPI figures. Even with

The CDN MONTHLY SUPPLEMENT is a supplement to the weekly COIN DEALER Newsletter (Greysheet); both report the national Dealer-to-Dealer wholesale coin market, monitoring all possible transactions and offers to buy and sell coins sight-seen. The coins may be certified or "Raw" (uncertified), but the grading MUST ADHERE to the current leading standard. Bids reported also consider activity in the certified SIGHT-UNSEEN market, such bids may include consideration of all costs attendant to certification for a particular service. Bids for a "Raw" coin may be higher or lower than for a certified specimen due to current market conditions. The CDN may not change Bid just because a dealer lowers his Bid, but will be strongly influenced by sells which are lower than current Bid/Ask levels. The CERTIFIED COIN DEALER Newsletter provides Bids for certified coins only.

The Coin Dealer Newsletter (USPS # 008248) is published by CDN Inc., 18807 Crenshaw Place, Torrance, CA 90504-5923. Second-Class postage paid at Torrance, CA. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to CDN, P.O. Box 11099, Torrance, CA 90510.

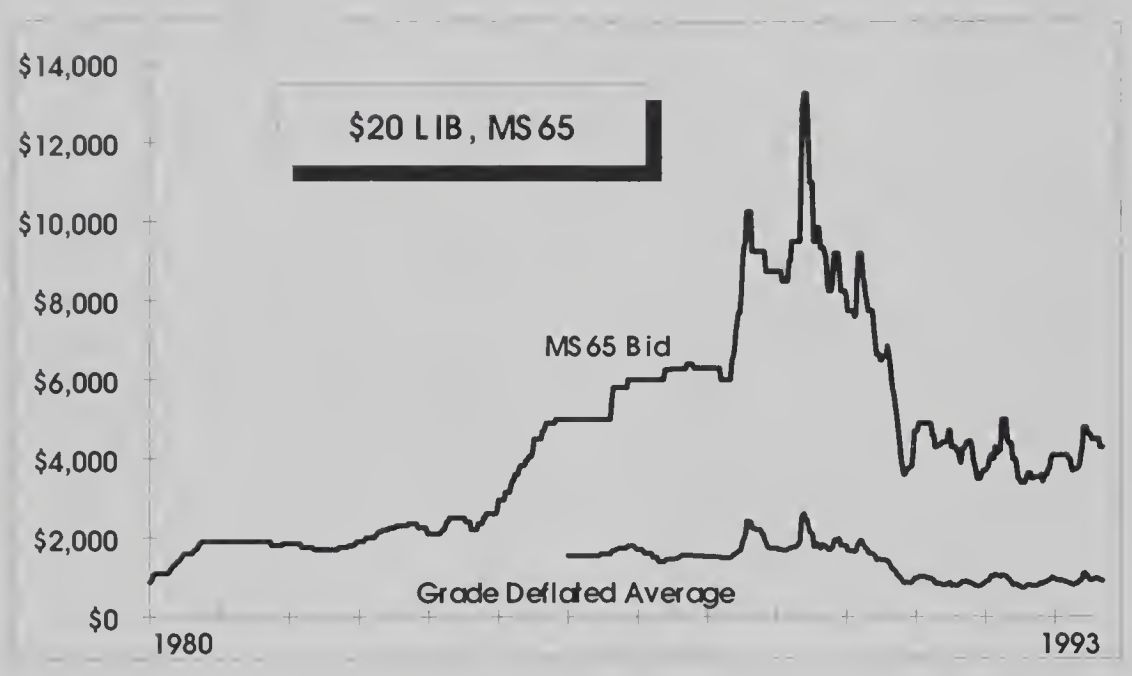

INVESTORS NOTE: The prices in the Newsletter are from Dealer-to-Dealer transactions. As an investor, you may buy and sell coins through a dealer for a fee.

Subscription Information: A subscription to the weekly Coin Dealer Newsletter (Greysheet) is: $50.00 for six months, $89.00 for one year and $147.00 for two years.

the decline in the purchasing power of the dollar since 1980, the proud owner of a 'true' MS65 $20 Lib found his hobby-investment keeping well ahead of inflation; had the owner been prudent enough to have sold in 1989 at the peak of the market, a substantial profit (in real terms) could have been realized! It is also very important to remember that inflation has affected all parts of life, not just coin prices; that $100 bag of groceries in 1980 might cost $150 today!

Our second graph is a little less encouraging, as it attempts to graphically illustrate the effects of the changing grading standards: grade-deflation. Starting in 1986 (the date most of the dealers picked as being pivotal), the Greysheet Bid was subjected to a grade-deflating process, consisting of taking Bid for the MS61 through MS67 grades (extrapolating values where necessary, with some help from the Bluesheet Bid charts) and calculating the value of that 100-coin basket based on the grading profiles listed above. There are plenty of assumptions inherent in this process, but different guesses would have only minor effects on the profile as constructed.

The person who purchased a 'true' MS65 coin, whose grade withstood the changing definitions, had the opportunity to take a tremendous profit during the booms of the late 'Eighties. This reinforces the value of working with a reputable dealer, of carefully examining all purchases, and buying coins based on quality and not on the lowest price available. Even more importantly, the consistent grading standards as promulgated by the leading services should mean that grading-deflation will never happen again. The certified MS65 Lib $20 purchased in 1986 may be Bid lower today, but the owner had over four years to take a profit.

Also, please don't forget that we picked the MS65 Libs as a worst case scenario; the other four series surveyed would have given a more positive result. For example, the 1945 Walking Liberty Half Dollar showed the least change in grading standards, with the result of the best looking Grade Deflated Average graph.

Anyone buying a 'true' MS65 1945 Walker would have been able to sell it at a profit for most of the decade; on average, even with the grading definitions changed, our 100-coin basket could also have been sold at a nice profit over the same period of time. As is the case with most investments, there is no substitute for knowing the material and buying quality. With the cyclical nature of the coin business, those buying at bottom prices should have the same opportunities sometime in the future.

In conclusion, it has been no secret that the market is well off of its 1988/89 highs. It is likewise well-known that inflation remained a substantial force during the 1980s. Tightening grading standards have made it difficult to compare MS65 coins of 1980 with the MS65 coins of 1993. The negatives of grade-deflation are offset by one very important, over-riding consideration: coins have always been cyclical, and the greatest profits have always been made by those with enough foresight to buy at the bottom. By any standards or measures, enormous profits could have been made during the rallies. And it should go without saying that despite the volatility of the coin market since 1986, the advent of slabbing has very effectively diminished the problem of inconsistency in grading standards.

Key Date Lincolns:
the Classics

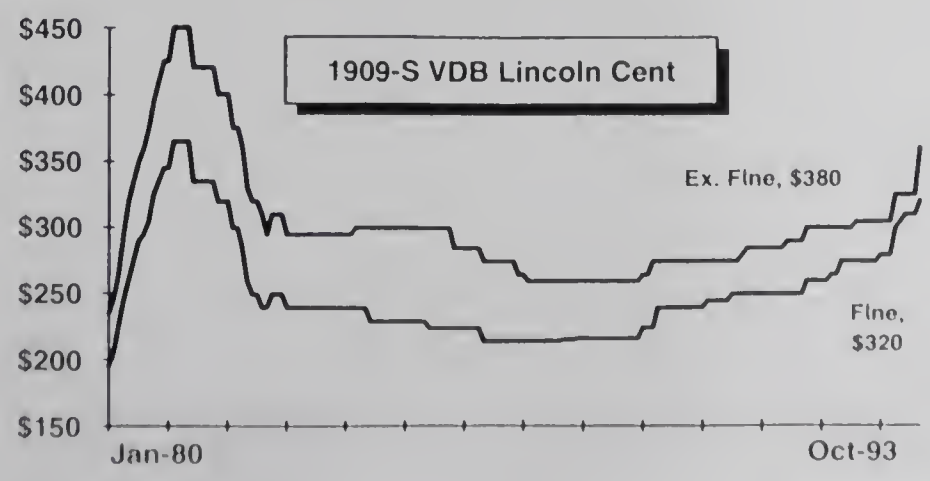

Some thirty years ago, when I first started to collect coins, the Lincoln cent was my first challenge. As for generations of collectors before and after, that humble coin was the start of a lifetime of numismatic growth. I started simply enough, with the Birthday gift of a Whitman album, and a couple of Cent rolls to search (discretely seeded with a few earlier mintmarks!). Everyone should have an Uncle Al — in fact, if they did, we might not be so concerned about the future of the hobby!

For two years, I searched rolls. And rolls. And more rolls. And more rolls. When another hole in the album was filled, there was a sense of pride and accomplishment. Sure, I was already learning that some of the duplicates found in circulation could be traded with the local dealer, but by-and-large, the idea was to find the coins, not to buy them! Duplicates could be traded at coin club meetings, where there were usually adults willing to help turn a novice into a numismatist. Of course, I wouldn't want to give the impression that this style of collecting is without its own dangers. I suppose that I should have been more grateful to my brother for saving me the walk to the bank, with his kind offer of a lift on his handlebars; and perhaps holding $20 in paper-wrapped Lincolns in an open-topped box may not have been the absolutely best plan. And I might have warned him sooner about the rapidly approaching curb. Talk about sliders.

Anyway, the mystique that surrounds the key dates in the Lincoln series takes on even greater significance when those are the only album holes remaining to be filled, after years of effort, searching tens of thousands of coins. Even knowing that the 'pickings' in bank-rolls were getting slimmer every year. At that point, I became a coin buyer as well as a coin collector, a natural outgrowth of the discovery that it was easier to spend a paycheck than to ride on handlebars. One by one, the key dates were purchased in VF-XF; the 1914-D; the 1909-S VDB; the 1922 "Plain". These were the classic issues, and one very special day I owned them all! Large numbers of collectors are still pursuing Lincoln Cents in circulation, and while the early issues have been effectively depleted, there is still satisfaction in a 'find'. For the purposes of this article, we are also including as Lincoln "classics" the 1909-S and 1931-S Cents (both of which I found), along with the 1955/55 and 1972/72 "Doubled Dies", (neither of which I ever found). The pricing history since 1980 is given in both Fine and Extremely Fine grades.

The 1909-S VDB Lincoln Cent must stand as the most widely known Lincoln; in fact, this is probably the most widely recognized rarity by the non-numismatic public. A person may know nothing about rare coins, but they will have heard about the S-VDB. This was even more true earlier in the century, and as a result of this early fame, many circs were pulled out of circulation and saved (or sold!). This is a rare coin where a low mintage doesn't necessarily mean a low population count.

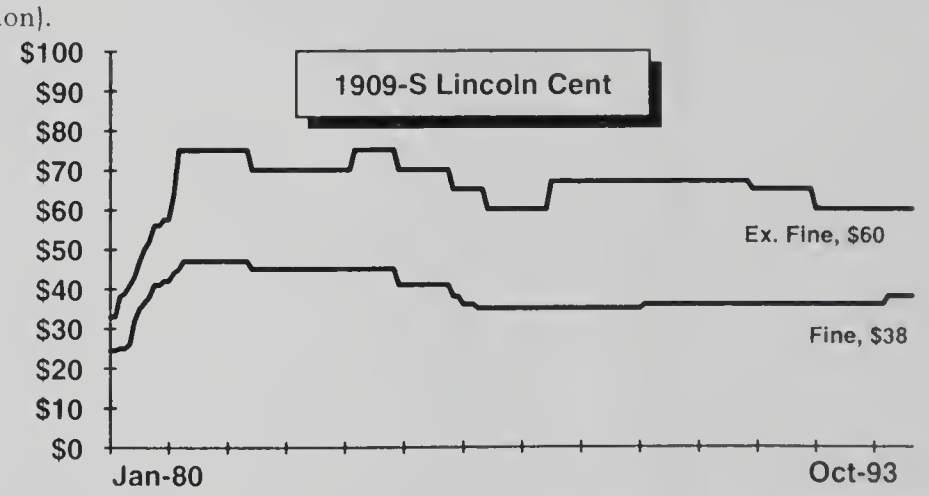

The story of Victor David Brenner's initials is well known among numismatists, and it still makes a pretty good "tell"; I won't repeat it here. But I will touch on the point of the public 'outcry' over his initials; did you ever think about precisely what that means? Did ten-thousand Americans write letters to the editor, or was this 'outcry' the doings of some newspaper reporters looking to create a little controversy for the front page?

During the 1980/81 boom, the S-VDB nearly doubled, only to lose most of the gain over the next few years. Circ Bids bottomed in 1987/88, and have been steadily climbing since under increasing collector demand. Bids have recently been very active.

The 1909-S is certainly one of the Lincoln classics, as a low-mintage first year of issue, but its appeal may lie more in its status as a companion piece to the S-VDB. Since the VDB has always been popular, the 1909-S has been equally so (although at a lower Bid level befitting its higher population).

The 1909-S enjoyed solid Bid growth in the early '80s, but retained most of the gains for the decade; it has been a fairly steady performer in F & XF.

The 1914-D is another well-known classic, although it would be more accurate to say that this one is well-known to numismatists. Many budding collectors (of all ages) spent hours pouring through rolls looking for this issue (and the S-VDB). Apparently, they were findable during the 1940s and 1950s; you couldn't prove it by me during the 1960s. Of course, during the '60s, teens were more interested in rolling things other than cents.

The 1914-D has been another solid performer since 1980. Steady demand on a rare date has meant consistent Bid levels

1922 "Plain"

It is curious, indeed, the 1922 "Plain" would probably have remained a low interest "error" (or maybe even gone mainly unnoticed) if Philadelphia had produced any Lincoln cents that year. In most ways, this poor coin didn't stand a chance of a proper striking. When the Denver Mint was

The CDN MONTHLY SUPPLEMENT is a supplement to the weekly COIN DEALER Newsletter (Greysheet); both report the national Dealer-to-Dealer, wholesale coin market, monitoring all possible transactions and offers to buy and sell coins sight-seen. The coins may be certified or "Raw" (uncertified), but the grading MUST ADHERE to the current leading standard. Bids reported also consider activity in the certified SIGHT-UNSEEN market; such bids may include consideration of all costs attendant to certification for a particular service. Bids for a "Raw" coin may be higher or lower than for a certified specimen due to current market conditions. The CDN may not change Bid just because a dealer lowers his Bid, but will be strongly influenced by sells which are lower than current Bid/Ask levels. The CERTIFIED COIN DEALER Newsletter provides Bids for certified coins only.

The Coin Dealer Newsletter (USPS # 008248) is published by CDN Inc., 18807 Crenshaw Place, Torrance, CA 90504-5923. Second-Class postage paid at Torrance, CA. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to CDN, P.O. Box 11099, Torrance, CA 90510.

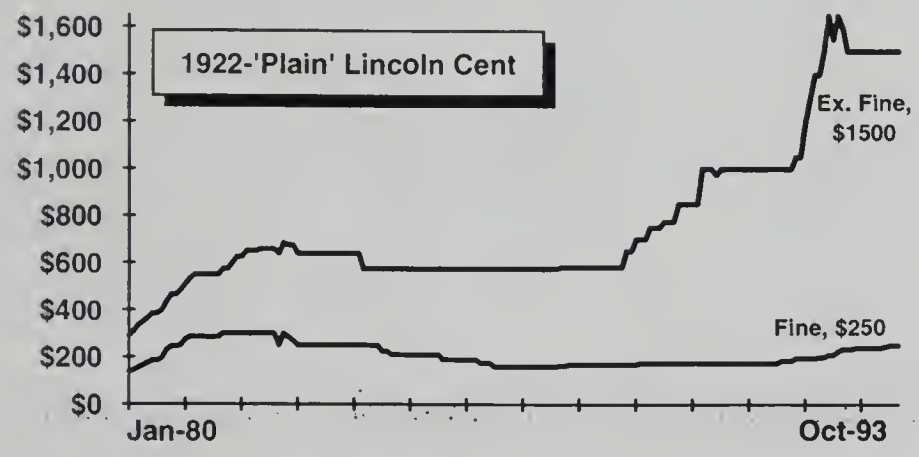

INVESTORS NOTE: The prices in the Newsletter are from Dealer-to-Dealer transactions. As an investor, you may buy and sell coins through a dealer for a fee.

Subscription Information: A subscription to the weekly Coin Dealer Newsletter (Greysheet) is: $50.00 for six months, $89.00 for one year and $147.00 for two years.

given orders to produce a half million more cents (without the benefit of additional dies), trusty old Die #30 was continued in use - even after a good grinding to remove clash marks! It is a "toss-up" whether you want to call this a filled die, or just a disappearing mintmark from a worn-out die. Either way, when the Denver mintmark disappeared, producing a 'new' mintmark variety for 1922, Lincoln Cent collectors simply had to have one of these rarities. As with many filled die situations (and in the rarer examples of dies on their 'last legs' being used), there are progressive stages of filling showing "broken Ds", "faint Ds", "shadow Ds" and a few others; numismatists are sometimes accused of seeing detail that isn't there, but with this coin, just the opposite is true! Myopia is helped by the two main varieties, with alternating degrees of weakness on the obverses and reverses.

The 1922 "Plain" has been a solid performer since 1980; in fact, considering the severity of the intervening cycles of demand, its performance in XF has been nothing short of superb! From its 1980 low of $290, through its 1992 twin peaks at $1650, to its current $1500, this rarity has demonstrated value.

Some numismatists might argue that the 1931-S Lincoln is not really one of the "classics". It is true that this issue does not have quite as much mystique as it did thirty years ago, so I too would hesitate to call it a "key". But demand for this date continues strong, and its formerly higher profile make it a "classic" in my book. Besides, this was the last of the rare dates that I was to find in circulation, so I'm especially fond of it. Since such a large proportion of the initial circulation was hoarded, this coin may well be rarer circulated than in Mint State! And since the low mintage figures from San Francisco were immediately noticed by the collecting community, many of the remaining 1931-S Cents were pulled from circulation. So, here is a genuinely low-mintage coin that is not at all difficult to locate on the bourse in Mint State.

While the 1931-S Cents have lost a little of their luster as a "key" date, their Bid levels haven't dropped too badly; F & XF Bids remain above their 1980 levels. You may not have made much on this coin, but you haven't lost much either. We'll end with a look at the Bidding history on the two main "overdates" in the series, the 1955/55 and 1972/72.

The '55 "Double Die" Lincoln was another of the great media stars that helped launch coin collecting as a hobby to an entire generation. The public was alerted to the existence of these valuable items; you just had to be lucky enough to find one in your change and recognize it for what it was. The most interesting part of this story is that the Mint decided to release the 10-million coin batch, containing 20-24,000 of the doubled cents, rather than destroy the entire production (and quite rightly too!). The majority of the coins ended up circulating. The Bid level in Fine has been as steady as can be for a decade.

Another "Double Die" situation occurred in 1972, with the die shifting slightly between hub impressions. While not as spectacular as the 1955 example, the 1972 received widespread publicity, courtesy of a news media anxious for a good story. Several varieties exist showing lesser degrees of doubling, which usually command little premium. The true 1972/72 is usually found only in higher-grade circ or Mint State; the CDN prices them in XF and above.

Lincolns continue to attract new collectors to numismatics, with their challenging combination of low entry cost and limited rarities. It is possible to spend enormous sums putting together a Gem set; it is also possible to earn the gratification of assembling a decent percentage of the collection from circulation. Numismatics is a great hobby because it provides something for just about everybody.

IRS Cash Reporting: Criminal Penalties For Transactions of Less Than $10,000

What You Should Know!

by Diane Piret
ICTA Industry Liaison

If you thought that cash reporting and money laundering laws applied only to transactions of OVER $10,000, you could be in for an unpleasant surprise; you may not understand a significant part of the Cash Reporting laws. And if you don't understand them, how can you be sure that you are properly complying?

By now, you should be aware that there are IRS reporting requirements (IRS Form 8300) for some transactions of over $10,000. These include those where, in one transaction (or two or more related transactions) you receive over $10,000 in cash or other qualifying monetary instruments. You likely also know that failure to file those required information returns may carry serious penalties, both civil and criminal.

What is somewhat less obvious from a cursory reading of IRS Publication #1544 or the Form 8300 is that cash transactions for less than the $10,000 amount may also expose you to criminal penalties. "I didn't know I was breaking the law" is sweet music to an eager prosecutor's ears, and not a good defense.

If you want to continue to spend your time trying to make profits and not license plates, it is YOUR responsibility to be familiar with these regulations and how they apply to your business. Grumbling that they are burdensome, or not fair, or not clear, does not mean that all parts of the law don't apply to you. You cannot elect to observe only those parts that you understand or feel to be fair.

From the questions asked at ICTA's seminars, most confusion seems to occur in defining related transactions and interpreting the phrase "...if you know, or have reason to know...." These are the areas where transactions UNDER $10,000 can be a problem. (It may comfort you to know that some aspects of these regulations can be confusing to IRS personnel too — but they can afford to be confused. You cannot.)

Two or more transactions for smaller amounts that are "related", and that total over $10,000 in cash or monetary instruments, are reportable on IRS Form 8300. A simple example of "related" would be a cash installment payment, with the client paying for a $15,000 coin with three $5,000 cash payments. The transaction is for one coin, therefore the payments are all related to the one "deal". The payments must be aggregated and reported as soon as the total cash received goes over the $10,000 level. That example is pretty simple. The following questions will test your understanding of more complex scenarios.

1) In January, Joe buys 27 gold 1 oz. American Eagles at $350 per coin (for a total of $9,450). He picks them up at your shop and pays you with a cashier's check for the full amount. Do you need to file an IRS Form 8300 or IRS Form 1099b?

2) Two months later, Joe buys 25 gold 1 oz. Maple Leaf coins at $340 each. He sends his office courier with the payment and a letter authorizing him to pick up the coins. The $8,500 invoice is paid with a cashier's check for $5,000 and the balance in cash. Do you need to file an IRS Form 8300 or IRS Form 1099b?

3) Instead of sending his courier, Joe comes in to complete the transactions himself with the same forms of payment. While you're counting out the coins for him, he mentions that while he first bought American Eagles because they were made in the U.S., he switched to Maples for the balance of the bullion in his children's trust funds because they are a more pure form of gold. He asks you if you agree that the purer gold coins are a better item to hold in the children's trust funds. Do you need to file any IRS information returns?

4) Mike has been your customer for many years. He buys and takes delivery on $7,000 in numismatic coins from your stock, and orders $5,000 in bullion American Eagles. Since you don't stock quantities of bullion items, you order the Eagles for him, and he agrees to pick them up when they arrive. He offers you a cashier's check for $7,000 for the numismatic coins, and $5,000 in cash for the bullion order. When you tell him you have to aggregate and report these transactions, he disagrees, since they are for different types of merchandise that are to be delivered at different times (more than 24 hours apart). Is Mike correct?

5) Over the years, you have sold gold bars and coins to Don and Alice Smith. Their kids are now going to college, and Don and Alice need to raise tuition money. On Monday, Don sells you 20 Krugerrands @ $350 each, and asks for the $7,000 payment in cash. Two weeks later, Alice comes in and sells you 15 American Eagles @ 345 each (for a total of $5,175). She also requests payment in cash. Are you required to do any reporting on either Form 8300 or 1099b?

6) Harry, a good customer, wants to buy six numismatic silver dollars for his collection, for a total invoice of $12,000. Harry's wife will "have a fit" if she knows he spent that much money, so Harry cannot write a check; instead, he wants to pay in cash from the money in his "Quit Smoking Reward Fund." You know that Harry isn't trying to avoid 8300 reporting, and you also know that the cash he's using was acquired legally with all taxes properly paid. Harry asks you to break up the transaction into two sales of only $6,000 each — one dated today and another about a month from now — so that there's no "official" IRS paperwork for his wife to find. Since you know Harry isn't laundering money, and no single invoice will be over $10,000, is it OK to do the deal this way?

7) You just came back from a major show where the retail business was good. While there were no big trades, there were many sales in the $300 to $900 range. When you prepare your bank deposit, you realize you have over $14,000 in cash from all those small sales. What should you do? What must you NOT do?

The CDN MONTHLY SUPPLEMENT is a supplement to the weekly COIN DEALER Newsletter (Greysheet); both report the national Dealer-to-Dealer, wholesale coin market, monitoring all possible transactions and offers to buy and sell coins sight seen. The coins may be certified or "Raw" (uncertified), but the grading MUST ADHERE to the current leading standard. Bids reported also consider activity in the certified SIGHT-UNSEEN market; such bids may include consideration of all costs attendant to certification for a particular service. Bids for a "Raw" coin may be higher or lower than for a certified specimen due to current market conditions. The CDN may not change Bid just because a dealer lowers his Bid, but will be strongly influenced by sells which are lower than current Bid/Ask levels. The CERTIFIED COIN DEALER Newsletter provides Bids for certified coins only.

ANSWERS

1) Neither form is required. Although the cashier's check is treated as cash, the total is not over $10,000. Form 1099b is not required when you sell to the client, but when you purchase from a non-corporate client. American Eagles are not on the IRS Broker Reporting (1099b) "shopping list" of reportable items anyway.

2) Neither form is required. Although both types of payment are considered "cash" for reporting purposes, the transaction is not over $10,000. Since there is no information that links this transaction with the one two months prior, these should not be considered "related" transactions, and therefore, do not require the aggregation and 8300 reporting.

A quantity of 25 Canadian Maple Leaf coins would be reportable on Form 1099b if you were buying them from Joe, a non-corporate entity. However, no 1099b is required since you are selling, not buying, the coins.

3) Form 8300 must be filed on the aggregation of this transaction and the American Eagles purchased two months ago. Joe has given you "reason to know" that both trades were related to his children's trust funds. Since the combined total of these two trades is over $10,000 in cash, and you are able to determine that these trades are "related", Form 8300 must be filed on the combined total.

4) Mike gave you over $10,000 within one 24-hour period, and these transactions must be aggregated and reported on Form 8300 regardless of when delivery will take place. If Mike had bought only the $7,000 in numismatics, and some time in the future came back to buy the $5,000 in bullion, you would not have had to aggregate these transactions unless Mike did or said something that gave you some reason to know that there was a relationship between the sales.

5) Since you know that Don and Alice are related, and that their reason for selling these coins is the same — to raise tuition money — these two transactions are related. However, you are not receiving cash in the course of your business, but paying out cash, which does not require your filing Form 8300. Since Don and Alice are not receiving the cash from you in the course of their trade or business, they do not have to file Form 8300either.

Since the transactions are related, you would have had to aggregate them for purposes of Broker Reporting (1099b) if all of the coins had been Krugerrands. However, since 20 Krugerrands is under the reporting threshold and Eagles are not on the IRS's "shopping list" at all a 1099b does NOT need to be filed.

6) There are no exceptions for 8300 reporting, and splitting up a transaction to avoid the reporting requirement is illegal. Harry is asking that you "structure" the transaction in order to avoid 8300 reporting. He is asking you to commit a federal crime, and he's committing a crime by asking you to do it.

If you proceed, both you and Harry could be subject to criminal penalties. Criminal charges of 8300 violations are all felonies — there are no longer any misdemeanor violations of these regulations. Even after you have finished serving your prison time, a felony conviction will affect certain of your day-to-day freedoms FOR THE REST OF YOUR LIFE. Both you and Harry should read Page 3 of IRS Publication #1544.

7) You should deposit the funds as you originally intended before you realized that the total was over $10,000 in cash. You must not withhold some of the deposit so that it is less than $10,000 to prevent the Bank from filing a CTR on the transaction. To do so is "structuring" and is illegal. You should, of course, be sure to have appropriate supporting documentation on the show's sales that generated this cash deposit, to document that you were not required to file a Form 8300.

If you weren't sure about the answers to these relatively simple questions, you need to learn more about these regulations now, before you learn about them the hard way. If you don't have a CPA or other professional tax advisor, GET ONE! While ICTA cannot advise you on how to conduct your business practices, many tax advisors find the ICTA Cash Reporting Kit very helpful, both for the tax professional (saving 7-9 hours of research) as well as aiding understanding for the dealer. The $25 charge for the kit ($50 for non-members) is "lunch money" when compared to accounting and legal fees — not to mention court costs and IRS fines and penalties. If you were at all unsure of the answer to any of these sample questions, you have good reason not to sleep at night. You cannot afford to be uncertain about these rules and regulations.

NOTE: These sample questions devised by ICTA are intended to demonstrate different aspects of the cash reporting and broker reporting regulations. The answers are based on our best understanding of the regulations, which we believe to be correct. However, ICTA does not provide financial or legal advice, and urges individuals with questions to contact their tax and/or legal specialists. The regulations on cash reporting and money laundering are complicated, and may be subject to different interpretations, especially as specific circumstances will vary from one situation to another. This information is provided to assist you, and is not intended to be used as sole guidance for complying with these regulations.
